

the Print

Clackamas Community College

Vol. XVIII, No. 9

Wednesday, November 28, 1984

College, agencies plan to meet Nov. 29

M. Ekholm
Of The Print

Seven different organizations are getting together Nov. 29 at Rippling River (a hotel resort in Clackamas County) to develop service training programs and educate each other about the services each department performs. The organizations that are participating are Clackamas Community College, Clackamas County Utility Department, Clackamas County Department of Environmental Service, Clackamas Business Promotions Company, Employment Training Business Service (ETBS), Clackamas County

Dept. of Human Resources and the Oregon State Employment Division - Clackamas County Office.

"Education and government are doing a lot more to support the creation in our community and the strengthening of new and the re-location of businesses in the area," David Dickson, College economic development officer, said.

An outside party, Bob McCarthy of McCarthy and Company of Portland, has been appointed by the organizations to act as a trainer, a liason and a common director for the common goals of the organizations. He will put together the training program, work with the top people of each organization and do the leg work to accomplish the goals of the organizations.

"The goals of the cooperative effort are to help the people in Clackamas County understand what the other organizations are doing to serve the business and community. To build a sense of 'esprit de corps' of team work. To realize that we at Clackamas County are part of a team, working together to make this a better place to do business," said McCarthy.

McCarthy's background includes work as a mediator with labor unions and business.

The meeting on Nov. 29 will be for the participating organizations and McCarthy and is scheduled at Rippling River from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Retirement party slated

Dr. John Hakanson, outgoing president of Clackamas Community College will be guest of honor at a retirement party to be given Friday, Nov. 30 at the Wilsonville Holiday Inn. Cocktails will be served at 7 p.m. and dinner at 8 p.m.

Approximately 200 people from over the state will be attending the event, according to Kevin McMurdo, director of community relations. McMurdo added that presidents from five other community colleges are scheduled to speak at the event.

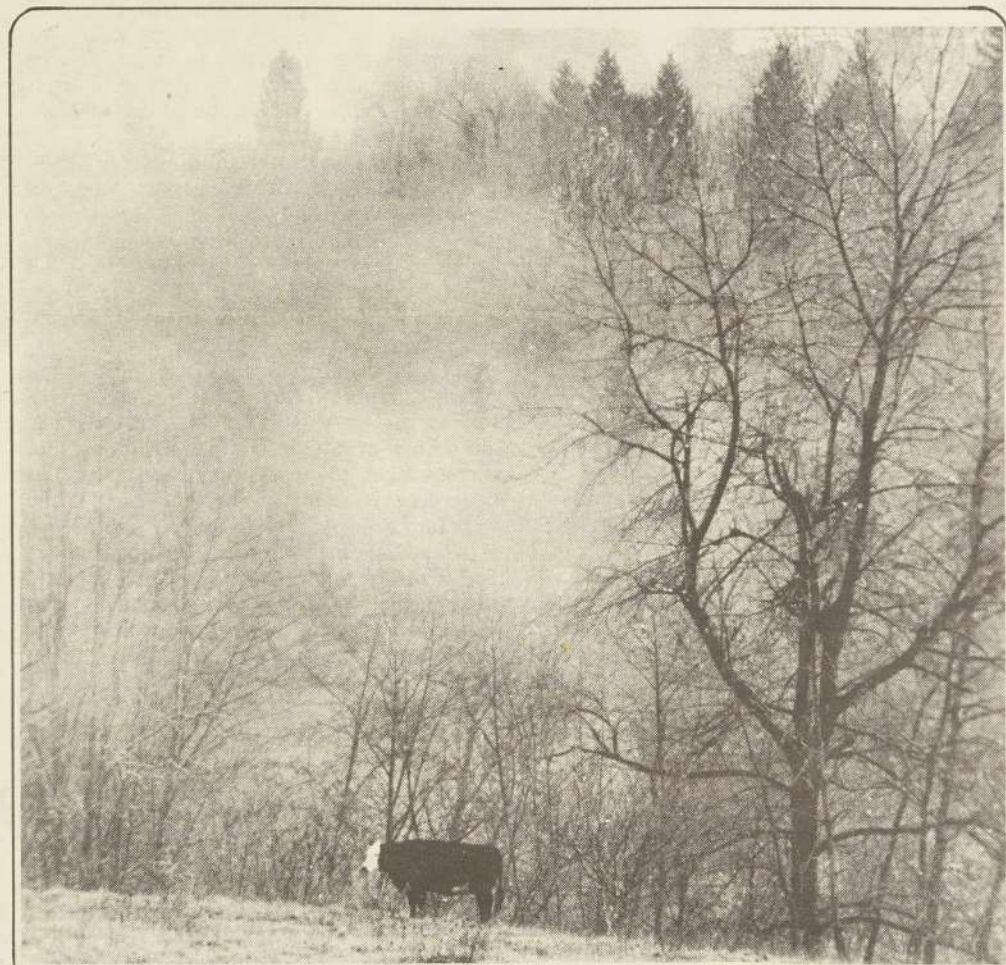

They are Dr. John Anthony, Portland Community College; Dr. Fred Boyle, Central Oregon Community College; Dr. Jack Daniels, Blue Mountain Community College and

Dr. Bud Hakanson, Umpqua Community College. Dr. Bud Hakanson is Dr. John Hakanson's brother.

Kevin Forney, president of the classified association and Lee Turpin, faculty association president will also speak. Other speakers include Board members Bill Gregory from Wilsonville, Roger Rook from Oak Grove and Bonnie Robertson, Board chairperson from North Clackamas.

Music for the party will be provided by the community choir and the Beaver Creek Swing Band. A special surprise for Dr. Hakanson is also planned.

Tickets for the party are not available. Attendance is by reservation only.

MISTY MORNING--a local herbivore grazes in a nearby field that was shrouded in fog Tuesday morning.

morning.

Photo by Joel Miller

What's inside

Videotape explores Russian culture

Page 4

Drop in enrollment sparks study

Page 6

Regional tournament update

Page 7

