

Eight-yr. old needs a Big Brother

Anyone interested in helping out young children by being a companion and positive role model to them can do so by joining the Big Brother/Big Sister Program through the Clackamas County Children's Services Division, (CSD).

Cliff, an eight-year-old boy who lives in Beavercreek (his last name is withheld for confidentiality) is one of several children who has been put on a waiting list for the program, said Laura Phillips, a social work intern for the CSD. She is currently searching for someone to participate in the program with Cliff as he has been on a waiting list since October.

The Big Brother/Big Sister Program is part of the volunteer services of the county services division, which is located on Marylhurst College's campus. The program has been in existence for more than five years, Phillips said.

"They (the children) need attention that the family can't provide for one reason or another," she said. In Cliff's case, Phillips said having a mother who works six days a week and a disabled stepfather makes it difficult for his family to spend enough time with him, and as a result he is experiencing some emotional problems.

"To be a friend, a role model and provide some companionship," are what Phillips said are the basic guidelines for participants of the Big Brother/Big Sister Program. She emphasized that responsible people who would be able to spend time with Cliff or other children in similar situations on a regular basis (once a week, for example) are needed for the program.

Those interested in becoming a big brother or big sister to Cliff or other children currently on waiting lists should call Virginia Vanture at 653-3140. Vanture is in charge of screening applicants for the county's program.

GARY DENNISON

Photo by Dan Wheeler

Scholarship drive attempts to reach $20,000-fund goal

By Heather C. Wright
Of The Print

Campaign '85 refers to Clackamas Community College's first-ever Foundation Fund Drive. The money donated to this non-profit organization provides scholarships, seminars and equipment needs for the College.

Dick Engstrom, director of the Foundation and development officer said there are three different phases the College's Board of Directors intends to go through to achieve their $20,000 goal.

A corporate giving componet, a direct-mail appeal to community college alumni and individual requests to the College faculty and staff for contributions represent the three main ways the Foundation expects to raise money.

"The big advantage of the Foundation is the flexibility we have to carry out the goals of the College," Engstrom said.

During the 1983-84 academic year 25 students received financial support from the Foundation.

The three basic types of scholarships the Foundation supports are: the Sustaining Donor Program, which offers a full-tuition scholarship to outstanding seniors from the 12 high schools within the college's district; the Special Scholarships, tuition scholarships awarded to students in nursing, fire science, automotive technology, biological sciences, engineering, architecture, drafting and building trades; and the Tribute scholarships, which have been created to honor the contributions of outstanding citizens, according to the Campaign '85 brochure.

Heart Answers

WHAT IS A HEART ATTACK?

A heart attack is the death of a portion of heart muscle that may result in disability or death, depending on how much of the heart is damaged. It occurs when an obstruction in one of the coronary arteries prevents the blood from supplying oxygen to the heart muscle. Heart attack symptoms may include chest pain, nausea and shortness of breath. The risk of heart attack can be reduced by treating high blood pressure, avoiding cigarette smoking, observing a low cholesterol diet and maintaining normal body weight.

American Heart Association in Oregon

On ski lifts

Cost of going up coming down

Mt. Hood Meadows is hosting another "Ski Ball" scheduled for February 4, from 4 - 10 p.m. at the Mt. Hood Meadows ski lodge. Clackamas Community College will not be sending up a van as done last year, but students at the college may purchase tickets for the lifts, rental equipment and lessons at reduced rates.

The cost of a lift ticket will be $4.50. The cost of equipment rentals is $4.50 and so are lessons. Students may buy one, two, or all three of the tickets offered in the package. Mt. Hood Meadows has invited collegians in the area to take advantage of the reduced rates and are supplying two bands for the dance in the lodge.

For more information concerning the "Ski Ball" inquire at the Student Activities office, ext. 245.

PHI BETA LAMBDA members at recent initiation ceremony.

Photo by Joel Miller

Clackamas Community College

