Brown wins two

By Dave Holmes

ALBANY - A strong, gusty wind blew out of the north Saturday afternoon at Linn-Benton Community College and made it's presense known in almost all of the running and sprinting events of the day.

But a different kind of wind blew in from the south as Lane Community College of Eugene dominated and won both the men's and women's meets against Linn-Benton and Clackamas with scores of 97 to 63 to 35 and 65 to 36 to 23, respectively.

On the men's side of the scorecard, the only bright spots of the day were the 100 and 200 meter sprints, both won by Cougar Ed Brown in 11 and 22.8 seconds, respectively. David Binns, also from Clackamas, captured second place in both events.

Binns, who ran 22.9 seconds into a headwind in the 200 meter event, said that the wind was a key factor in both of his races. Brown elaborated.

"It's really bad," he said. "The wind (gusts) will stand you up, throw you back. In the 200 it's nice at first, but later, when it really counts in the stretch, it's bad."

At least one Clackamas sprinter-jumper was in praise of the wind. Chris Orblom, still recovering from an ankle injury last month, narrowly edged out Billy Fields of Lane by an inch and a half for a win in the triple jump.

Orblom, who also won the long jump with a leap of 23 feet 3 inches, had the wind to his back as he started his approach about 12 feet beyond the runway, off to the side of a Port-a-Pit.

Orblom said the wind helped him gain a victory, but that Fields was breathing down his neck all the way through the open pit competition. "I was definitely having some trouble with him (Fields)," Orblom said. "I beat him, but he was trouble."

For a curtain call, Lane fielded four teams for the men's 1600 meter relay. It was a shot putter's nightmare as one of Lane's teams soon dropped out, but Lane won the event in 3:19.7. Unofficially, another Lane team came in second, just behind the winning group. Linn-Benton finished a distant and official second in 3:40.4.

Clackamas teammates Janet Hess and Debbie Blake did most of the scoring for the Cougar women's squad.

Hess won the 800 meter run in 2:33.3, but had to fight Jean Kneal of Lane all the way for the win. Hess went out confident and led through the first 400 meters of the race.

The wind took it's toll, though, and Hess dropped in behind Kneal for most of the last lap. But with about 40 meters to go, Hess shifted into her kick and nosed out Kneal by four-tenths of a second.

Blake, a field competitor, took first in the discus with a toss of 122 feet 7 inches, just 9 inches further than Linn-Benton's Tony Lingberg. Cougar Sue Johnston placed third in the event with a 108 foot 8 inch effort.

A 37 foot 10 inch throw by Blake was also good for second in the shot put.

Both Clackamas squads will be in attendance Saturday at Mount Hood Community College for the Mount Hood Relays.

Clackamas women fare well at Clark tennis tournament

"Knowing the competition is the key to successful college tennis," said Women's Tennis Coach Nancy Mikelton in a sage moment.

And while last Thursday's match against Skagit Valley Community College was anything but a 'get acquainted' party, the Cougar women know a bit more about Coach Ken Thompson's Skagit Valley squad than they did before.

Mikelton described her team as "really young" with only one returning player, Ann-janette Robbins. Robbins, who played fourth single last year, is now the team's top player.

In the top match of the day Robbins had her hands full as Skagit Valley's Debbie Bilski needed only two sets to come away with a victory. Robbins played a fairly solid match, but lost most of the duece points in the contest. The final score was 6-2, 6-3 in Bilski's favor.

In other play, Valerie 'Buffy' Byrd outplayed Skagit's Rose Steiner with an aggressive attitude and won in three sets 6-1, 4-6, 6-0 in the third singles match.

Tomah Butchart, the Lady Cougar's second singles player, was defeated in three sets by Corrie Young. Young set the pace early in the match with a high-hitting, hoppy style. Butchart's right wrist started to bother her towards the end of the second set and she lost the third set 5-7.

Friday Mikelton took her team across the river to the Clark Community College Invitational. Clackamas took fourth place honors with 150 points, just nine behind third place Clark.

"I was impressed with our play against Clark and Lower Columbia (Community College), which are both in our league," said Mikelton in a telephone interview. "We beat both of them handily. Buffy played really well and tomah showed real stick-to-it-iveness. But the matches gave me a good idea about how well we'll do in league play."

Tomorrow the team will travel to Salem to compete in the Willamette University Invitational. The matches are scheduled to start at 3 p.m.

Baseball team well balanced

The College's diamond men got off to a slow start on their annual Yakima Valley tournament that marks the starting of the baseball season. The team lost five ball games, but according to Head Coach Paul Roeder this is normal.

"We play everyone at every position so we can find out our starting line up," Roeder said.

This must have helped as the team came back to end that road trip with a two win, five loss, one tie record. "We got a good look at everyone," Roeder said.

The team's current record is nine wins, six losses and one tie. The team is 3-1 in league standings and will play Linn-Benton Community College today at Clackamas at 1 p.m. Linn-Benton is also 3-1 in league play.

When asked to compare this year's team with last Roeder commented that this team is "500 percent better. We have no head cases or discipline problems, just a great group of kids." All of the players but two are from in-district or are from the Portland area. The two not from here are from Ashland and Grants Pass.

Roeder says the team strengths are "good solid pitching, hitting and atching. They are a very well balanced ball club."
