

New Print editor sought for fall term

by Mary Prath
Staff Writer

The Print is looking for an Editor for fall term. Applications can be picked up in trailer B.

A job description can be picked up also. A few of the responsibilities are:

The Editor will be overlooking a staff of 10 to 20 writers, editors, photographers, artists and advertising sales persons.

The Editor is responsible for establishing new beats, and for helping the reporters cover the campus efficiently.

The Editor will lead editorial board meetings each week, providing leadership to section editors and the head photographer.

Being an Editor is a big responsibility, but it has many rewards: a full tuition waiver, $60 per month expense allowance, separate office, and valuable experience.

Journalism experience is required for the position, but the student does not have to be a journalism major. Knowing how to gather information for a story, knowing basic grammar and writing skills, and knowing how to edit as well as the ability to work well with people, individually and as a group are some of these skills. The Editor will need to be responsible. Getting the paper out each week will be his/her responsibility.

News Briefs

ELC having plant sale

The John Inskeep Environmental Learning Center at Clackamas Community College will hold its Annual Spring Benefit Plant Sale Friday through Sunday, May 1-3 and Friday and Saturday, May 8 and 9 from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.. New varieties of shade trees, both evergreen and deciduous have just arrived in time for our spring plant sale.

Proceeds will benefit the new Lakeside Education Hall. This much needed classroom facility will provide a unique space for enrichment and community classes and serve community and business groups as a retreat center in a quiet wildlife habitat.

PSU, ELC Sponsors tour

A weekend scenic excursion from Willamette Falls to the Central Oregon high plateau region with well-known Naturalist and Botanist David Danley along with the John Inskeep Environmental Learning Center Staff will be conducted on May 8, 9 and 10.

This special Envirotrekking tour is sponsored jointly by the Environmental Learning Center and Portland State University. Cost of the tour is $85 for non members and $78 for members of ELC. Two hours of Portland State Graduate or Undergraduate credit may be obtained for an additional $54. To register please call ext. 351.

Ivan Doig to speak

Ivan Doig, Northwest writer, will come to Clackamas Community College Thursday, April 30, at 7pm.

Some of his books are "This House of Sky," "Winter Brother," "The Sea Runners" and "English Creek." "Dancing at the Rascal Fair" will appear this fall.

Mr. Doig has received awards from the National Endowment for the Arts and the Western Heritage Foundation, as well as acknowledgments from the National Book Awards Committee and the Western Writers of America. His work has been read by Dick Estell on the NPR program "The Radio Reader."

Mr. Doig's talk will emphasize his writing and research. A discussion period will follow. Please join us.

If you have any questions, please contact the English Department (ext. 284) or Craig Lesley (282-9842).

Student pulled from class

A student from Clackamas Community College has been removed from class by the Oregon City Police.

Stan Johnson, from Public Safety, said that the Oregon City Police removed the student from class because there was a court order.

Johnson said he didn't know anything about the removal, but that's because Public Safety doesn't know about all the court orders of the whole county.

Johnson pointed out it happens often that a student needs to be removed from class, and he does it, so it won't interrupt the class.

Johnson concluded that it was probably a criminal case, otherwise the court order just would have been sent by mail.

Class identifies plant problems

Retired County Extension Agent, Gray Thompson, will be teaching a class in Troubleshooting Plant Problems at the John Inskeep Environmental Learning Center.

This class will discuss and suggest correction, however, the main emphasis will be on identification of problems. There will be time for questions and answers.

This class will meet one night only, Friday, May 1 from 6-9 p.m. at the Environmental Learning Center Pavilion. Cost of the class is $6 for members and $9 for others. To register please call ext. 351 Tuesday through Friday 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Auction helps CCC election

Friday, May 1, 1987, the Friends of CCC are holding a silent auction from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. and an Oral Auction starting at 8 p.m. Guests wishing to bid at the auction must register at the registration desk, and secure a bid number. All proceeds will help the Clackamas Community College election efforts.

Your name.
That's not too much for your country to ask.

A name and a few more facts. That's all we're really asking of the two million young men who will turn 18 this year. After all, there's no draft. So if someone you know should be registering, remind them that it only takes five minutes at the post office. And, it helps keep our country strong.

Register with Selective Service. It's quick. It's easy. And it's the law.

Maybe there is a substitute for experience.

After you're done with school, you face one of the hardest lessons in life:

Without experience, it's tough to get a job. And without a job, it's tough to get experience.

At The Wall Street Journal, we recognize that experience is something you don't start earning until after graduation. But while you're waiting, we can give you a head start by providing some of the same competitive advantages that experience brings.

For instance, our wide-ranging news coverage gives you a clearer understanding of the whole complex world of business.

Our tightly focused feature reporting prepares you for your more specific ambitions—whether in management, accounting, finance, technology, marketing or small business.

And our in-depth analysis helps you formulate your ideas in a sharper and more persuasive way.

Call 800-257-1200* Ext. 1066 or mail the coupon—and start your subscription to The Wall Street Journal at student savings of up to $48 off the regular subscription price.

That's a pretty generous offer. Especially when you consider what it actually represents. Tuition for the real world.

To subscribe, call 800-257-1200* Ext. 1066 toll-free.

Or mail me The Wall Street Journal, 500 3rd Ave., W., Seattle, WA 98103.

Send me one year of The Wall Street Journal for $66—a savings of $48 off the regular subscription price.

I'd like to see it for $25. Payment enclosed.
