ELC News Briefs

Sunday program offered

The John Inskeep Environmental Learning Center on the Clackamas Community College Campus announces a lineup of special Sunday Programs for the whole family for the month of May. These special environmental programs provide an opportunity for young and old to enhance their understanding of the natural world. The programs include slides and film presentations and Birds of Prey talks with live hawks, owls and falcon. Program hours are from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Program calendar for May is: May 10 - Oregon's Birds of Prey. May 17 - Wetlands-Lifelands (New). May 24 - Gray Whales (New). May 31 - A Different Kind of Classroom. The program cost is $1 per adult, children free when accompanied by an adult.

Global study class topic

Global Population growth and resource depletion will be the subject of a course offered by Portland State University and the John Inskeep Environmental Learning Center beginning Tuesday May 19 from 7 to 9 p.m. This class will survey particular countries including the United States for activities aimed at reducing wasteful resource practices.

Cost of this class is $22 for members of ELC and $25 or others. If PSU credit is desired an additional $54 is required for 2 credit hours.

Hungry?

The John Inskeep Environmental Learning Center is offering a class in Edible Landscape taught by Vern Nelson a Master Gardener and Board Member of the Home Orchard Society. The class will meet in ELC's Pavilion on Mondays, May 25 through June 15 from 7-10 p.m.

PSU sponsors issues course

The John Inskeep Environmental Learning Center and Portland State University are jointly sponsoring a course for students interested in studying the local and global environmental issues affecting Birds of Prey and Fisheries. This class will be held at the ELC on the CCC Campus on Thursdays, May 14 and 21 from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. Also included will be an all day session May 23 from 8-5 and a 6 hour field trip on May 31.

Cost of this course is $48 for members of ELC and $54 for non members. For those desiring PSU credit and additional fee of $54 is necessary for 2 credit hours. Call ext. 351 for information and to register.

A look at the past and the future

into cooperatives. Any profits that are made in the bookstore are returned to the students. That's something that we need to look at here."

"At this point, a lot more investigation needs to be done before we can make any concrete proposals on what to do."

You are very critical of ASG what do you have planned to change this image?

"That image of ASG will disappear when the students start receiving services that they think are important. If you give someone a good product, you will have a satisfied customer."

Will you be hand picking your officers or will the choice be left to a panel decision?

"I can't hand pick all my officers. I have one vote on that panel and I will be trying to influence that panel on who will be the best officer. But I will not be hand picking them."

You've been strongly allied with the conservative Christian sector. Do you have any views or plans for the college's minorities?

"Banning books or outlawing minorities doesn't help anybody. If I want people to believe a certain way it's not going to help my case if they only see one viewpoint."

What "The Print" is asking is, as student body president will you be supporting those minority groups?

"Yes, I will be. I will support some groups more than I will support others. As a student here, I have that right."

"As student government president, it is my responsibility to see that they get adequate and fair support from ASG."

Do you have anything else you would like to say before we conclude this interview?

"There are a lot of students on campus that aren't apathetic, but very well educated about what's going on. I hope that those students will continue to make themselves heard, to talk to me, to my officers, and to my senators."

students and often times the students do hear about student government, they are just not necessarily interested."

Your administration has been criticized for doing nothing all year. How do you feel about that?

"If they are talking about significant changes and making some humongous change on campus, I don't think our administration has made that humongous change. But I still think we functioned as a student government and represented students needs on a smaller level."

Do you think you had a successful year as student body president?

"Well, I don't know. You can compare me to either other student government body presidents or the ones even in the past on this campus. I think I had some ups and downs. In the beginning of my administration was extremely successful, and towards the end, towards the last term it was unsuccessful. I would say that there is things that if I could do it all over again that I would do it differently."

Can a serious nursing student maintain her GPA, be student body president and still maintain her sanity?

"I think you can. I know that I'm not an excellent academic student at all. I'm really happy to say I made it through the entire year. Being a nursing student and ASG President is hard. I lost my best activities coordinator and I lost my vice-president."

What do you think the biggest failure was?

"Probably getting more people involved. Getting students more aware of what student government is doing."

Do you feel you fulfilled the promises you made when you got elected?

"One of my main campaigns was to set up like a student voice committee. I really didn't have the opportunity. Yes, I fulfilled the promise to set up that committee but as far as following through with it we really didn't follow through."

What advice will you offer your successor when he takes over as ASG President?

"Mainly one person can't do it alone. Have to be flexible and when things get rough keep yourself together."

Do you have anything you want to add?

"I wish Neale all the luck in the coming year as student body president and that I think he'll do a fine job. It's kind of sad it has to end in such a lull."

SEMESTER IN SPAIN (BEGINNER OR ADVANCED)

Not just for Spanish majors only, but for everyone: beginners, "in between" students, and advanced. Put some excitement into your college career!!

BEGINNER OR ADVANCED—Cost is about the same as a semester in a U.S. college: $3,870. Price includes jet round trip to Seville from New York, room, board, and tuition complete. Government grants and loans may be applied towards our programs.

Live with a Spanish family, attend classes four hours a day, four days a week, four months. Earn 16 hrs. of credit (equivalent to 4 semesters taught in U.S. colleges over a two year time span). Your Spanish studies will be enhanced by opportunities not available in a U.S. classroom. Standardized tests show our students' language skills superior to students completing two year programs in U.S. Advanced courses also.

Hurry. It takes a lot of time to make all arrangements.

SPRING SEMESTER—Jan. 30—May 29
FALL SEMESTER—Aug. 29—Dec. 19
