

Photo Essay

Women hikers explore Cascade Head Trail

by Caree Hussey
Staff Writer

"It creates a unique opportunity to do something different," stated publications instructor Linda Vogt, about the Sept. 26 women's hike.

That Saturday 12 women, a mixture of students, staff and community members, hiked to the top of Cascade Head. They were led by Ellen Burbridge and Margaret Cook, faculty members at the Targeted Learning Center.

Focus on Women hopes to create some events each term to let women from all walks of life come together. Winter term there will be a snow outing (possibly cross country skiing). Spring term there will be a weekend retreat with workshops on topics ranging from self-esteem to time management. These are all open to women in the community.

Counselor Donna Ford sneaks in some bird-watching.

Above: Roberta Donaldson, registrar's office, enjoys lunch. Below: Ellen Burbridge leads the way!

Photos by Linda Vogt

Ellen Burbridge and Bernie Nolan soak up the sun.

...sharing the sun and sea, together!

