

Sports off Campus

Sports opinion potpourri

If you're upset over the Ducks missing a bowl bid or the Seahawks' inconsistencies, enjoy the absence of ABC Sports commentator Jim McKay on your TV screen. With the Winter Olympics upcoming, McKay will be omnipresent. ABC needs to replace the sappy McKay with anyone... maybe even Max Headroom, the first sportsologist.

Now that Oregon State's football season is over, talk is surfacing about leaving the PAC-10. This is a cop out. Must the Beavers drop down a level to have success? Many seem to think OSU would be better off in the WAC. But let's face it, the Beavers would have their troubles beating Trend College or ITT. Some of the OSU games this year were so embarrassing even Dr. Ruth couldn't watch. Stay in the PAC-10, Beavers.

And recruit for your lives. Avoid junior college transfers and go after the top freshmen.

If money is a problem, talk to the Portland Beavers about tacky promotions. Maybe you can get Charo to sing the national anthem. Coo-Chee-Coo-Chee.

If it gets any worse next year, Carl Sagan will have to explain the final scores.

Was that Arizona thumping Michigan and Syracuse in the Great Alaska Shootout last weekend? Yes, a PAC-10 basketball team wins over highly touted national powers. Does this mean that the PAC-10 hoops is gaining respectability? No way. PAC-10 hoops still can't compete with the Big East, the Big Ten, the Big Eight, the Big Dipper, the Big Chill, or even the Big Mac. But Arizona is a tough team that deserves better conference competition.

Now the Trailblazers are having problems with another rookie, Ronnie Murphy. Could it be that Mike Schuler has as abrasive personality and an uninviting attitude for rookies? Ask Walter Berry. He's probably getting a charge out of Murphy's suspension.

Canby and Lakeridge could well meet in the state title game a week from Saturday. If Canby beats Roseburg and Lakeridge handles Ashland, a rematch of Lakeridge's stunning 41-10 blowout at Canby will be set. If it comes off, look for a closer Lakeridge win. This is the best Pacer team ever.

Finally, advice for aspiring placekickers. Wherever you go - out to get the newspaper, the mall, the prom - wear only one shoe. It impresses the scouts.
