Group continued

Vince Fitzgerald, a Counselor at Clackamas Community College is continuing a personal growth group from fall term.

The group, which meets in an informal setting on the campus from 3-5 p.m. on Thursday, has room for a few more people.

According to Fitzgerald, the group is not a "therapy session" or anything of that sort. It's simply a place where people can express themselves openly in a group situation without being put down.

For people who get involved, a group situation can promote very good vibes, but when they are just starting out they might wonder why they came. "There's a feeling of real discomfort when they start out," said Fitzgerald.

The discomfort apparently doesn't last. Fitzgerald's group, which was supposed to break up at the end of Fall term has been extended at the request of the members.

What does the group do that makes people want to continue coming to it? Said Fitzgerald, "They learn how to get in touch with their inner feelings."

Taxpayers

About 5,300 Oregonians are being notified by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) that they didn't report all of their income on their 1974 Federal Income Tax returns.

The Internal Revenue Service is using a computer process to compare taxpayers' income reports which do not agree with reports of dividends, interest, wages and other types of income made by payers directly to IRS.

The notified taxpayers will also receive a computation of the corrected tax liability, which they can either pay or contest in the usual manner.

This same computer process also uncovered over one million cases, including 10,689 Oregonians, of possible failure to file tax returns for 1974. These people are being notified.

State vets aid

Veterans planning to use State educational aid benefits to attend school this winter should immediately contact their school registrar or veterans' counselor, a county service officer or the Department of Veterans' Affairs, H.C. Saalfeld, Veterans' Affairs Director, said today. Application must be made before the end of the term to receive benefits.

Eligible are Korean war veterans and recipients of the Armed Forces Expeditionary Medal or the Vietnam Service Medal. In addition, the veteran must have been an Oregon resident for one year prior to military service, must be an Oregon resident upon application and must have served 90 days or more during wartime or after July 1, 1958. World War II veterans are no longer eligible for this benefit.

The benefit pays $50 for each month of full-time undergraduate college or associate degree studies and up to $35 a month for other studies. The benefit is based on one month's entitlement for each month of military service, up to 36 months. A veteran cannot draw State benefits for studies for which federal VA training benefits are being received.

Greenpeace film

Greenpeace Oregon is sponsoring an evening of films on Feb. 6. Featured will be the Oregon premier of "Save the Seals" a 1976 documentary of last year's anti-sealing campaign. With it will be a 1975 film on the whale-saving expedition. The show starts at 7:30 p.m. at the Old Church, 1422, S.W. 11th Avenue in Portland. Advance tickets are $1.50 and available through Greenpeace at either 811 N.W. 23rd or the Galleria.

UO preview

Students interested in attending the University of Oregon's annual UO Preview may still submit reservations to attend the all-day program on the UO campus Saturday, Feb. 5.

Dead batteries

There have been many victims of carelessness, as they pull up into a parking lot on a foggy morning and either forget to turn off their lights, or forget when their car is parked.

"We need signs put up to remind people to turn off their lights. The parking lot also needs to be numbered," said Johnson, chief of Clackamas Community College Security.

Campus Security has been busy starting dead batteries in the foggy mornings. They receive dozens of requests daily for jumper cables. And as a preventative measure, Johnson has been breaking into cars with a coat hanger to turn off their lights.

There have also been several incidents of people losing their cars after parking them on campus. That's why Johnson suggested that the parking spaces be numbered. But there's no assurance that people would remember their number.
