Oregon history

A course on "Oregon History" (history 240) will be offered spring term at Clackamas Community College on Wednesday evenings from 7 to 10 in Randall Hall room 221.

The class will be taught by Dr. Donald Epstein and will begin with the westward exploration and migration and conclude with a look at Oregon's future.

Deadline nears

Students receiving financial aid assistance are reminded that March 15 is the last day that anyone can apply for Basic Educational Opportunity Grants (BEOG).

This grant will concern the 1976-77 school year. Applications turned in after March 15 will not be accepted.

CB workshop

A Citizen's Band Radio workshop is set for Tuesday, February 22 from 7 to 10 p.m. at Clackamas Community College. The one night session will be held in Randall Hall, room 101, and there is a $1 fee for the open workshop.

Instructor Dennis Barth will cover Federal Communications Commission rules and regulations, operating procedures, self-installation, and the theory of antennas. The workshop is designed for CB radio beginners and those in the field who are unsure of themselves.

Barth has had 20 years of experience as a ham radio operator and has taught ham radio classes at Clackamas Community College.

Open doors

"Open doors for Women" was the topic of discussion for the Focus on Women's meeting held last Thursday, Feb. 10, at Clackamas Community College. Various speakers spoke on career openings and job availability for women.

"Everyone was so enthusiastic. They realized that there's a lot more to a job than just following a want ad," said Bernie Nolan, a CCC Counselor.

Over 50 women attended the morning session where Sandra Lowe, an equal opportunity employment specialist at Tektronix, and Dorothy Intile, a personnel manager at Boise Cascade both spoke.

At the afternoon session about 170 women attended, including 120 high school students. This session consisted of eight panel participants; Gloria Anderson, Carrie Crave, Peggy Jolling, Virginia Posselt, Pamela Powell, Joan Stangel, Loveda Steele, and Nancy Webster. Among these was a free lance drafter, an Oregon City policewoman, and an emergency room nurse for Spanish speaking people. Five of these eight panelists stressed the importance of foreign language skills for their jobs.

"The women were excited at the large variety of different kinds of jobs available," said Nolan.

Books stolen

Several books were stolen from a student in the Community Center building Monday and were sold to the bookstore by a person using an invalid student I.D.

There was an attempted theft of ferns from Barlow Hall last Wednesday. A custodian found out in time and the theft was prevented.

At the Muscular Dystrophy Dinner on Friday, Feb. 11, one male was arrested for allegedly drunken behavior and then taken to the Oregon City Police Dept. A 17 year old female was charged with disorderly conduct.

Twenty-one tickets were passed out last week. Eight were for parking in handicapped zones; four were for parking in a no-parking zone; and nine were for miscellaneous parking violations.
