

Cougar print

University of Clackamas at Beavercreek Friday, April Fool, 1977

ASG prexy arrested for obscenity

Associated Student Government President Charlie Bennett was arrested last Monday on charges of indecent exposure and making lewd and obscene gestures.

The arrest stemmed from his attempts to publicize ASG's refusal to recognize the Mooning Club as a legitimate organization within student government at Clackamas Community College.

The Mooning Club is the latest in a series of controversial clubs that Bennett has attempted to approve through student government.

Bennett's lewd act was the act that he is currently advocating. The act of mooning requires that the person doing it drops his or her trousers while bending forwards and grabbing his or her ankles.

Bennett chose noon to protest the denial of his club while followers of this cult (Moonies), stood around him and yelled, "red eye" over and over.

Among other stunts pulled by Bennett in the name of dissention have included running dirty underwear up the flagpole in honor of the invention of elastic bands and attempting to start bestiality and necrophiliac clubs at CCC.

In an exclusive interview with the Cougar Print Bennett related his views as to why he was incarcerated.

"They're out to get me," said Bennett.

Bennett refused to comment on whether his involvement with marijuana reform has anything to do with his bizarre behavior.

ASG President Charlie Bennett seems to be somewhat confused over the controversies he has been creating of late. However, Bennett has shown a remarkable ability to turn the other cheek in the face of adversity.

NORML started at CCC

Clackamas Community College chapter of the National Organization for the Reform of Marijuana Laws (NORML) is experiencing a dissension in the ranks.

In agreement as to objectives," Bennett, NORML president at CCC, said that differences arise out of the question of which we should pursue those objectives.

Bennett believes that change should come about within the legislative system."

The faction of NORML that is advocating a violent demonstration and he has been in agreement with those who advocate a boycott of public restroom facilities to voice their dissent.

NORML members who are in agreement with Bennett's policies have broken with the main body of the organization and formed a splinter group entitled Advocates of Bennett in the National Organization for the Reform of Marijuana Laws (ABNORML).

ABNORML spokesman Jim Rogers said Wednesday, that "it got to a point where we had to do something. NORML was going to pot."

Rogers, past president of the Organization to Undermine Clackamas High (OUCH) will serve as vice-president of ABNORML until July, when he will undergo surgery to separate his left foot from his tonsils.

