ASG candidates express goals

The Associated Student Government of election takes place Tuesday and Wednesday, May 3 and 4.

There are six announced candidates for four positions; two are running unopposed.

Michael McCarty is running unopposed for the position of ASG president. McCarty is currently serving as ASG's Assistant to the President and is majoring in Business Administration.

a bunch of spineless jellyfish -- a lot of followers."

Bixler, who is majoring in hydraulics, has spent a total of six terms in the ASG Senate and is a member of the Board of Directors for the CCC Foundation.

Bixler said that the ASG constitution is in need of major revision.

"Right now there are enough loopholes in the constitution to please Roy Rogers, Gene Autrey or anyone else who likes to do rope tricks," said Bixler.

Griffin is serving his second term as ASG senator, and has worked on the ASG Constitution Revision Committee and has been active in the NORML club on campus.

"I don't think that students know they can participate in student government," said Griffin.

"The qualifications for this job come from ambition, concern and a knowledge of parliamentary procedures," said Griffin. "Leadership is a big part of holding office and I think I have the interest to take that leadership."

Debbie Schwab and Lynn Toland are running for the position of student government secretary.

Schwab is in the middle of her third term in the student senate and is running for the office of secretary for the second time.

"I wish to make ASG better," said Schwab. "Everybody is complaining about how wishy-washy we are -- and I promise to do the best possible job I can do to make ASG better."

"This past year I've learned a lot and I loved every minute of it," she continued. "As secretary I expect to learn twice as much as I did this year."

Toland is currently serving as ASG secretary as a replacement for Debbie Sipe who resigned at the end of winter term.

"I'd like to see more students involved in student government and involve sports more," said Toland. "My goal is to see more athletics involved in student government. They have legitimate complaints that nobody ever hears."

"ASG doesn't need followers," she continued. "We need people to voice their opinions."

Maureen Kearney is the lone candidate for the position of business manager. She has served in the senate all year and was last year's recipient of the ASG Leadership Scholarship which is given each year to a Clackamas County high school student judged most deserving by ASG.

"I'd like to see less student apathy, more participation and have more people voice their opinions and ideas," said Kearney. "Since I have already been involved in ASG, running for business manager would further my involvement in ASG."

Students at CCC will have an opportunity to ask questions of these candidates at the elections forum scheduled for Monday, May 2 in the Community Center building.

Check the Today bulletin for the time and exact location of the forum.
