

Men face final meet before state

Clackamas Community College's men's track team faces its final meet before the state Oregon Community College Athletic Association Championships when the Cougars travel to Coos Bay to take on Southwestern Oregon and Umpqua Community Colleges, Saturday, April 30.

Clackamas, which placed second in the recent Mt. Hood relays, and second in a five-way meet on Saturday, April 16, has several competitors close to qualifying marks for the National Junior College Athletic Association Championships in May.

In the distance events Kelly Sullivan has recorded a 9:30 best in the 3000-meter steeplechase, only six-tenths of a second off the needed mark; Allan Knoop has done a 30:58 in the six-mile, while 30:30 is needed; and Don Brown's best of 4:25.3 in the mile is nine seconds off.

Jeff Harmon is nearing the distance necessary in the javelin. His school record throw of 202-2 is less than five feet short (206-0).

Frank Gibson, a sophomore from Rex Putnam high school, cleared 6-6 in the high jump to match the qualifying mark in that event as Clackamas took second behind Southern Idaho in the five-team meet at Clackamas.

Lynn Teuscher set a new school record Friday in the 120-yard high hurdles at the Mt. Hood Relays. Teuscher ran the race in 14.88 to beat by two-one-hundredth of a second the old mark set by Dale Bowman.

In the meet at Coos Bay the Cougars should look tough and many individuals are looking to better their season's best marks to be able to compete in the NJCC Championships upcoming in May.

Doris stretches to return the ball in recent Cougar tennis action. The CCC squad won their last three matches and own a 6-5 season record.

Letters improve records

Coming on strong, the Clackamas Community College tennis teams claimed four victories in their last week of play. The men's team nabbed three of the wins and their season's record to 6-5. Their win came against Judson Baptist on Friday with a score of 7-1.

Following night the CCC squad avenge their previous loss against Concordia College by beating them out 5-4.

Monday night, the men's team claimed a power victory over Linn-Benton in the competition last week, the doubles team of Dan Bauer and Mike Maynard won 3-0. Steve Williams also went undefeated in singles competition.

Mike Maynard, still the number one player for Clackamas, carried another undefeated week of play, dousing his opponent within the first two sets of each match. Maynard is now 9-1 for the season.

Coach Rich Taylor said that because of experience his team has obtained during this competition, that they are getting more serious about their game and becoming a lot tougher squad.

The CCC women's tennis team split two matches last week. The gal's win came against College of Vancouver, 5-4.

Individual winners for the gals includes Kim Fleming's (8-0 for the season) win against her opponent 6-0, 6-1, Mary Budnick 6-0, 6-0, Tammy Weigand 6-1 and 6-0, and the doubles teams of Fleming and Budnick 6-1 and 6-2, and Weigand and Gravett in an exciting match defeated their opponents 6-2, 6-7, and 7-6. Next home match for the tennis teams is the women's match against Mt. Hood on Monday, May 2.
