

Spring term finals announced

All classes meeting on Monday, Wednesday or Friday will have their finals as indicated by the class Hour and M. Classes meeting Tuesday or Thursday will have their finals as indicated by the class Hour and T.

English Composition, Mathematics, Biology (AT), Health and History classes will follow the time slot as shown on the schedule.

The evening classes will follow a different schedule. Classes which meet 6:30 to 8:30 p.m., 7:00 to 8:30 p.m., and 7:00 to 9:30 p.m. will have their finals 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. during the first class meeting on Monday or Tuesday of finals week.

Evening classes meeting 8:30 to 10:00 p.m. will have their final from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. during the second class meeting on Wednesday or Thursday of finals week. Classes meeting 7:00 to 10:00 p.m. will meet for their final on their regular class night.

All final examinations will be held in the regular classrooms unless otherwise assigned by the instructor.

Summer section

Next week's issue of the Cougar Print will be the last student newspaper of this term. It will feature a special summer recreation section which will include features on canoeing, backpacking, hiking, outdoor concerts and other summer activities. Marlene Clark will edit this special issue.

Rally chosen

Chosen for Clackamas Community College 1977 football rally May 12 were Penny Humphrey, Tamra Meader, Kathy Parsons, Laurie Sellon and Lynn Marie To-land.

Quick courses offered summer

In addition to the regular class curriculum, there will be several quick courses offered during the coming summer term here at Clackamas Community College.

The courses will take from four to six weeks to complete and will include chemistry, organic chemistry, biology, math, auto carburetors, auto tune-up and mountain hiking.

If you are a student needing to complete the 100 series of chemistry or biology, then these summer courses could be of great value, says Mrs. Arighi, chemistry instructor. "If a student is efficient in the chemistry courses then he could finish all three classes of the series."

CCC adopts animal policy

Clackamas Community College recently adopted a policy on pets and animals on campus which would limit the areas these creatures could use and also would make the owners responsible for any damages or accidents resulting from their animals.

The policy labels pets as being dogs, cats, and other "house" pets, while animals refers to horses, mules, goats, cows and "outside" animals.

Under the new policy, no pets would be allowed in CCC buildings or classrooms without approval from the chief of security. One exception would be seeing-eye dogs. No pets would be allowed on CCC athletic areas such as the football field, the track, or campus picnic areas.

Pets will be permitted on other campus areas but they must be on a leash or under voice control at all times. Pet owners are liable for any damages, incidents, accidents, and legal actions resulting from their pets while on campus.

Animals are permitted only on campus paved streets and parking areas. They must be kept, according to the ordinance, off campus athletic fields, play areas, and landscaped and grassed areas. In the years damages have resulted from stepping on irrigation pipes and through athletic fields.

Riding horses on campus will be limited but only on paved streets and areas. A citation will be issued and assessed to individuals riding horses on restricted campus areas. A fine assessment will be part of Motor Vehicle Regulations.
