ASG meeting

Three senators were nominated for senator of the term honors during last Thursday's Associated Student Government meeting.

Ron Kunkel, John Umbras and Ken Roberts were nominated after the senate went into lengthy debate on the question of whether or not the old officers currently serving as senators could be nominated.

It was decided that the old officers could be nominated but none were.

Hallie Brown was approved as next year's ASG activities director filling the last opening for a presidential appointee. Brown joins appointees Tonya Tucker, assistant to the president; and Barbara St. Mary publicity director.

ASG also allocated $400 to the environmental Learning Center for a fishery tank.

School picnic

Summer is here and picnics are on the agenda for a lot of people.

Clackamas Community College is also planning their annual school picnic.

The picnic will be at McIver State Park near Estacada, in section C on Friday, June 3. The picnic will begin at 2 p.m. and continue till dusk.

"Supersound," an incredible 5,000-watt stereo quad sound system will be playing everybody's favorite chartstoppers from the past two years.

Hamburgers, chips, Bar-B-Q beans and soft drinks will be the menu of free food prepared by new and old ASG officers.

There will also be physical activities for those who don't want to just sit around in the sun all day. The games include volleyball, softball and a Frisbee contest.

All CCC students are invited to attend as well as families and friends.

Graduation

Three graduating students will be featured speakers during the 1977 commencement exercises at Clackamas Community College, Friday, June 10, at 7 p.m. in the Randall Gymnasium on the college campus.

Pat Tallman, of Milwaukie, speaking on "Personal Growth through Clackamas Community College"; Paul Schwehn, Lake Oswego, on "Goals and Success"; and Anne Morgan, Molalla, discussing "Returning to the Community Skills They Have Given Us" will be the three student speakers and their topics.

The college's music department will combine choir and instrumental groups to perform the "Battle Hymn of the Republic" as the featured entertainment of the graduation ceremonies.

Following a welcome from Dean of Student Services Len Monroe, Clackamas Community College President John Hakanson will speak briefly and then introduce the featured speakers.

Board Chairperson Corinne Jones will present the certificates to the graduates.

There will be a reception in the Clackamas Community College Community Center building following the ceremonies.

The public is invited.

Business law

Students interested in Business Administration might be interested to know that Clackamas Community College may be offering a Business Law course this summer. The class is required for business students and will be available if a minimum of ten or more students show an interest. Those are considering the class, leave your name and address with the counseling center in the Community Center.

New class

A new class will be held this summer Tuesday night from 7 to 10 p.m. in the area of human services evaluation. It is a survey course that will cover various strategies of program evaluation.

There will be two sections to the course. The first one will be a seminar in which each student will be responsible for library research and making a presentation. The second section will focus on evaluation through text book and case studies.

The class is for three credit hours. For additional information is needed, contact Jerry Jamison, administrator for human services at ext. 338.
