

Record improves to 18-0...

Red hot Cougars rip Umpqua, SWOCC

by Mark A. Borrelli
Sports Editor

Domination, intimidation, demolition. These three words can best describe the Clackamas women's basketball season at the present time. The Cougars have not been tested as yet this season as they have a 6-0 league record, and a 18-0 overall record. What makes the Cougars so impressive is that the average margin of victory for Clackamas thus far this season is over 32, and no team has even come close. That again was the case Saturday night, as the Cougars hosted SWOCC and added another blowout to their mark, posting a ho-hum, another lay-at-the-office 98-64 win.

Clackamas came out and put their opponent away early. Angela Hewlett sparked the Cougars to a 56-25 halftime advantage. Hewlett finished with a game high 30 points and seven assists. Kelli Brown, who has played very well is of late, helped her backcourt mate by scoring 14 points. J.J. Drennan added 13 points.

Rebounding proved to be the key decisive factor in this game as the Cougars pounded the glass, out-rebounding SWOCC 50-24. Alicia Stephenson skyed for 13 boards.

"We're playing very well right now, and I don't really see us losing. Hewlett and Brown are both playing very well together. They are a heck of a backcourt tandem," said Coach Phil Garver.

It was the inside work of Pam Pember that lead Clackamas past Umpqua on Wednesday, Jan. 17. Pember pumped in 26 points and added 10 rebounds.

"Pam has played well all year, she has been really solid in the middle, really consistent," commented Garver.

Hewlett scored 24 points and dished out 11 assists, and Alicia Stephenson scored 17 points and pulled down 10 boards, as the Cougars went on to beat Umpqua 93-74.

"We're solid at every position. Our starters are all playing real well, and our bench is really contributing. They're seeing a lot of playing time because our starters haven't really needed to play a lot in the second half," said Garver.

Despite an unblemished record and lack of competition, the Cougars haven't seen a lot of fan support at home this year. Attendance at the SWOCC game Saturday was estimated at a mere 50.

"We'd like to see a lot more people at our games. We've certainly played well, so there should be no reason why people shouldn't want to see us," remarked Garver.

Clackamas center Alicia Stephenson tears down a rebound in a recent game against Umpqua. Clackamas won the game 93-74, raising their league record to 6-0 and their overall record to 18-0.

Photo by Tim Zivney

Basketball players Hewlett, Daniels, December athletes of the month

by Mark A. Borrelli
Sports Editor

The Clackamas Print's athletes of the month for December are both basketball players. The women's athlete of the month is Sophomore guard Angela Hewlett, and the men's athlete for December is guard David Daniels.

Hewlett, an Australian native, played for Clackamas two years ago before leaving for home because the end of her tour was up. She went home and saved money for six months, returned this year, and has been an incredible asset to the women's team. Through 18 games she has scored 361 points, and averaged 20. She is shooting 58 percent. She has dished out 161 assists, an average of eight per game. She has attempted 56 three-point attempts, and has connected on 30 for a 53 percent clip.

"Angela is a really good team leader; she has great court sense," stated Coach Phil Garver.

The men's athlete of the month is freshman guard David Daniels from Redmond High School.

Daniels is the Cougars' floor leader, and his leadership has helped his team into a league championship contender with an impressive 6-0 league record. He has averaged over 18 points and seven assists already this season for the Cougars.

"David is a real smart player; he has great court awareness," said Coach Kiser.

"It's an honor to win this award. There are a lot of good athletes at Clackamas. Clackamas really has a good reputation in athletics," said Daniels.

Nominations for January athletes of the month should be given to the office of the Clackamas Print by the second week of February or call ext. 309.

You're on the Right Road. . . .

with UPS!

UPS DELIVERS EDUCATION

Help us help you through college.
Part time job opportunities available.

For information contact:

Clackamas Community College
Career and Job Development Center or call
UPS Job Information Hotline 240-6668.

UPS Can help enlighten your road to the future!

United Parcel Service

Always an Equal Opportunity Employer.

EXERCISE YOUR RIGHT TO VOTE!!

Remember to register 30
days before the election.

Sign up at cashier's office...

Ski ball Monday

by Mark A. Borrelli
Sports Editor

Clackamas Community College will be holding the first ski ball of the year on January 29. The ball will be held at Mt. Hood Meadows, and will start at 5 P.M. and end 10 p.m.

The event will be available to all local community colleges, and Director Marc Essig expects another large turn out from Clackamas.

"Last year for the first ball out of 750 total people, we sent 250," said Essig.

Thanks to the lack of good snow for the most part of this winter, Essig is counting on a large turn out from Clackamas students.

"Because of the lack of snow, we anticipate around 1000," remarked Essig.

The ball is open to any Clackamas student, or guest. For those who aren't the worlds best skier, lessons at a reduced rate will be offered. The cost of the ball is $6. Lift tickets may be purchased at the cashier's office. No vans will be available this year for transportation.

For more information, contact Marc Essig, or Nancy Mickleton.

inches

L*	39.12	65.43	49.87	44.26	55.56	70.82	63.51	39.92	52.24	97.06	92.02	87.34	82.14	72.06	62.15
a*	13.24	18.11	-4.34	-13.80	9.82	-33.43	34.26	11.81	48.55	-0.40	-0.60	-0.75	-1.06	-1.19	-1.07
b*	15.07	18.72	-22.29	22.85	-24.49	-0.35	59.80	-46.07	18.51	1.13	0.23	0.21	0.43	0.28	0.19

D50 Illuminant, 2 degree observer

Density → 0.04 0.09 0.15 0.22 0.36 0.51