Book sale slated

Friends of CCC Library will hold a book sale Feb. 13-14 from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the CC Fireside Lounge. Proceeds will benefit the library and donations will be accepted through Feb. 2. For more information, call Phyllis Potts at 657-6958, ext. 462.

Blood drive on tap

A blood drive will be held in the CC Mall on Wednesday Feb. 7 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. For more information on donating blood to the American Red Cross contact Ken Ingram in student activities at 657-6958 ext. 598. ASG is sponsoring the drive.

Jobs available

Summer employment opportunities are available through out the US, and the Career and Job Development Center has information on these exciting summer jobs. Some of the places looking for summer help are Yellow Stone National Park, Mt. Rushmore National Park, Oregon Caves, Crater Lake, and Disneyland. See Sheri in the Career and Job Development Center for more information and applications.

Awareness week starts

Next week is drug and alcohol awareness week. Two of the major happenings slated are Thursday and Friday. The Director of Development for CODA, Dennis Donin, will speak about drugs in the work place on Thursday at 12:30. A crime prevention show case will be featured Friday from 12-2. On Monday, a cocaine panel will be presented at 12:30; an Alcoholics Anonymous panel will speak at 12:30 Tuesday.

Leslie Winnop of the ELC staff was featured in a segment on the local "P.M. Magazine" show last week. Winnop provided information on the ELC's 'Birds of Prey' exhibit.

Ball held on Friday

A Big Band Ball, hosted by Anderson. The Music Department has sent out nearly 400 mailings and expects a relatively large crowd. Admission will be $15 per couple; tickets can be purchased from the Music Department or at the door. The proceeds from the Ball will go towards a possible trip to England for the band members to attend the Anglo-International Music Festival in April.

Halford new senator

by Margy Lynch
Staff Writer
Tony Halford has recently been selected as the new student government senator, who will serve under Scot Camberon, ASG Entertainment Coordinator. The position opened when previous senator, Makeeba Shaugnassy, failed to meet ASG grade requirements. Halford saw that the position was open from a poster on campus. He went through a process similar to what the other ASG senators went through which required that the applicants submit an application and go through an interview process. It was also required that the senator attend a retreat. Along with other ASG and some of The Clackamas Print staff members, Halford attended the C.C.O.S.A.C. workshop held at Mt. Hood Community College. "I got to meet everybody [Clackamas' ASG] there. They are all really nice," said Halford. "I'm really excited to work with them." Halford is currently working on different projects in ASG. He is working with another senator on planning a ski trip for CCC students. He is also making and hanging up posters, helping to promote the blood drive, and working on a petition for Dr. Doob. Halford doesn't have any experience in student government specifically, but he does have experience being a leader and a manager. "I know I'll learn a lot about student government," he added. Although Halford will later take a break from student government to vacation in Australia, he hopes to continue his involvement beyond this position.

Levy goes to voters

Clackamas Community College will present a three year, $1.42 per $1,000 operating levy to voters for approval on the March 27 election.

CCC's current operating levy ends on June 30, 1990. CCC must pass a new operating levy to keep functioning as CCC is not protected by the "safety net."

"There might be some confusion among voters whether what they thought they passed last year was an operating levy and not a bond levy," said Acting Administrative Dean of College Services and Planning, Gary Dirrim.

The money raised by this levy will be used for operating and maintenance of the college. This levy will not go to finance the construction of new buildings.

The current operating levy is $1.32 per $1,000 assessed value. A $60,000 home will pay $6 more a year if the new levy is passed. Of the total property tax only about 55 cents per dollar goes to CCC.

For the state, the average tax rate for community colleges is $1.92 per $1,000. Treasure Valley Community College is over $5 per $1,000 a year for an operating levy.

Currently CCC is eleventh in the state when it comes to tax bases for community colleges. Only Umpqua Community College and Portland Community College have lower tax bases.

Since 1985, enrollment at CCC has increased 30 percent, but the staff has increased only four percent.

"The cashier's office has the same amount of people it did four years ago; as a result, they have to work harder," said Dirrim.

The last day to register to vote in this election is March 6. This is a vote by mail election. Ballots are to be mailed out to voters on March 9. All ballots must be returned by 8 p.m. on March 27. For more information on voter registration contact the Clackamas County Elections Office, 825 Portland Ave., Gladstone, OR 97027, or call 655-8510.

As of now CCC has the only money issue on the ballot in this district.

The Friends of Clackamas Community College are planning a door-to-door campaign. Volunteers will help by putting flyers on doorknobs, asking voters for a yes vote. Anyone who is interested in volunteering to help with the door-to-door campaigning is asked to call Assistant to the President for College Advancement, David Dickson at 657-6958 ext. 545.

Clackamas County Commissioners were on campus last Wednesday for the taping of a program about the future of the county. The video will be shown to county employees and civic groups.
