

News Briefs

Positions Open for ASG 1990-91

Elections for next year's ASG president and vice president will begin soon. Forms for applying will be available in the Student Activities Office April 18. There will be a candidates meeting April 25. Actual elections will be held on May 9 through May 11. Applications for appointed positions will be available April 30. Appointed positions include administrative assistant, activities coordinator and assistant to the president.

Focus On Women Plans Retreat

Focus on Women will be going on a week-end retreat May 4 through May 6 to YMCA Camp Collins on the Sandy River. There is a $95 cost which includes workshops, lodging, meals and a T-shirt. If interested register for WKS 1-05.

Anger Workshop Slated For Today

Deb Storlie, a therapist with Associated Counselors, will discuss different ways to deal with feelings and to communicate April 11 at noon. The workshop will be in the Community Center small dining room. There is no cost.

It's Time To Get Ready For Summer

The "Clackamas Beach Party" is this Friday, April 13, from noon to 5 p.m. It will be in the courtyard outside. There will be live entertainment by Sarin Ace. The party will include volleyball and a barbecue. It is sponsored by ASG.

Jobs Available For UPS

UPS is hiring for their Tualatin warehouse. They are hiring pre-loaders. The pay range is between $8 and $9 an hour. Applicants must be 18 years old and over, able to lift up to 70 pounds, and have their own transportation. Contact Sheri in the Career and Job Development Center, CC-117.

CCC evening services now available

There are a number of services available for evening students. For information on these services students can go to the Evening Information Office. The office is open from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Thursday.

Wilsonville Tech Center gets grant

Clackamas Community College has received an award of $600,000 in the state lottery funds to help towards the establishment of the Oregon Advanced Technology Center at CCC's manufacturing training site in Wilsonville. The award was presented by the State Board of Education.

ASG plans club awards night

by Margy Lynch
News Editor

ASG will hold its annual Clubs Awards Banquet April 27 from 6:30 p.m. to midnight in CCC's dining room to recognize people who have devoted time to different clubs.

The banquet will be for all clubs, including co-curricular clubs. David Nelson, ASG Administrative Assistant, is organizing the event.

College President John Keyser will open the banquet with a speech. Dinner will be served in the dining room at 6:30 p.m. It will be a buffet-style banquet. Turkey and roast beef will be served.

There will be a reception after the dinner. Awards will be handed out beginning at about 7:00 p.m. The awards will recognize all members who will receive participation awards, as well as, individual members who have shown extra efforts in their clubs.

"The different clubs are being encouraged to recognize individual members for things the members have done," Nelson said.

Following the awards, ASG has scheduled a band called "Rules and Cymbals" to play until around midnight. This will give people a chance to talk, dance, and socialize, according to Nelson.

"We make the event a festive time; people have a good time," stated Nelson.

ASG is expecting about 250 people to come to the awards banquet. The dress is semi-formal and the cost is free to club members.

Women authors to speak

by Mc-Lissa Cartales
Rhapsody Editor

Four women authors will be discussing their works at an informal evening on Thursday, April 12, 7-9 p.m. at the McLean House, 5350 River St., in West Linn.

The event will be sponsored by the Focus on Women program here at CCC, the Clackamas County Library, and Friends of the Library.

The four women, Molly Gloss, Judith Barrington, Elizabeth Woody, and M.K. Wren, are all Northwest women who write and work here in the area.

Molly Gloss has been writing short stories and two novels for the past ten years. Her works have appeared in Northwest Magazine, Calyx, Asimov's Fantasy & Science Fiction, and New Frontiers. Her two novels are "Outside the Gates," a fantasy novel for young adults, and "The Jump-Off Creek," a women's western.

Judith Barrington teaches creative writing at Marylhurst and Lewis and Clark colleges. She has published two books of poetry, which were "Trying to Be an Honest Woman," and "History and Geography."

Elizabeth Woody's work has appeared in both national and international magazines. She is a Warm Springs/Wasco/Navajo Indian. Her most recent book of poems is "Hand into Stone."

M.K. Wren began her literary career as a mystery writer with "Curiosity Didn't Kill the Cat," which was followed by five more detective novels in the Conan Flagg series. She then moved into fiction writing with "The Phoenix Legacy," a three volume science fiction novel, and has most recently released "A Gift upon the Shore," set on the Oregon coast.

The event is free, but look for more upcoming events sponsored by the Focus on Women program.

Correction

In the last issue of The Clackamas Print, it was stated that Paul Kylo was CCC President. Kylo's position is Student's Program Specialist. Dr. John Keyser is the college president.

The Clackamas Print regrets the error.

Alan Beyer of Woodburn receives his prize of a signed Trailblazer pennant from Jim Meiser.

NOT FOR THOSE WHO THINK ALIKE,
BUT FOR THOSE WHO LIKE TO THINK.

ATKINSON
MEMORIAL CHURCH

Sixth & John Adams, Oregon City
The Reverend Mr. Richard K. Bellingham, Minister

Public Services	11:00 AM
Adult Forum	9:30 AM
Attended Nursery	9:30 AM
Church School	9:30 AM
(except Aug. 1-Sep.15)

NORM'S

Cool yourself off with an Ice cold pop!

