

News Clips

Mark Westcott, well-known Portland area pianist and artist-in-residence at Pacific University, will conduct a piano master class Thursday at 7 p.m. in the Gregory Forum. This is an opportunity to hear student pianists and a master teacher at work. It is sponsored by the CCC Music Department. Admission is $3.

An Economics 201-202 tutor is needed now. This is a paid position. Apply at the tutoring office in D-104 or call Judy at ext. 2200.

"Fievel Goes West" will play Friday at 4 p.m. in the Fireside Room (all seats $1) and at 7 p.m. in the Gregory Forum (all seats $1.50). Family maximum is $5.

Pageant contestants are wanted for the Miss Clackamas County 1993 Scholarship Pageant to be held Feb. 13 at 7 p.m. at CCC. For more information contact Denise White at 697-3566.

Students planning to graduate Spring Term must submit a Petition for Graduation to the Registrar's Office by Feb. 12 to qualify for priority registration appointment.

The Second Tuesday Series continues with Earth-Friendly Gardening. Learn about plant selection and gardening techniques to save your energy and resources and the earth's environment. The event takes place from 7 to 9 p.m. in the Gregory Forum. Call Elizabeth Howley at ext. 2389 for more information.

Bible Student Ministries is having an old-fashioned Western Valentine's party Saturday from 7 to 9 p.m. For more information call Ken at 657-5659.

The comedy game show "You Laugh, You Lose" will conduct a show in the Skylight Room in the CC Mall Tuesday from 12 to 1 p.m. Contestants can win up to $200.

There will be a Focus on Women's Issues Breakfast from 7:30 to 9 a.m. Feb. 10 in the Gregory Forum. The topic will be Mid-Life Health Issues. Admission is $5.50 and includes a continental breakfast.

Shirley from the Oregon City Employment Office will be on campus every Friday from 1:30 to 4 p.m. in Rm. 112 of the Family Resource Center. She will have job related information, including employers that are listed with the Employment Division. Drop in or call ahead to make an appointment at 657-2071.

Affair w/ Hair-Student Nail Special

Gladstone

657-7860

Full set
$25Fill-ins
$15

New Customers subject to (one time only) $3.50 file fee

The Clackamas Print

Editors-in-Chief:

Melissa Freels, Robert A. Hibberd

News Editor:

Nolan C. Kidwell

Features Editor:

Heidi Branstator

Sports Editor:

Daphne Hartt

Copy Editors:

Jason Eck, Paul Valencia

Photo Editor:

Vivian Johnson

Business Managers:

Scott Morris, David VanKeuren

Staff Writers: Hafidha Acuay, Melissa Baughman, Cyndie Davis, Sandy DeBarbieri, Tracy Grier, Frank Jordan, Jeff Kemp, Daniel J. Mala, Tina McFarland, Tracey Roozenboom, Staci Smith, Claudia Smulders, Eric St. Anthony's, Nicole Turley

Photographers: Anjanette Booth, Lynn Sichel

Adviser: Linda Vogt

The Clackamas Print aims to be a fair and impartial newspaper covering the college community. Opinions expressed in The Clackamas Print do not necessarily reflect those of the college administration, faculty or advertisers. The Clackamas Print is a weekly publication distributed every Wednesday except for finals week. The open advertising rate is $4.13 per column inch. Clackamas Community College, 19600 S. Molalla Avenue, Oregon City, Oregon; 97045, Barlow 104. Telephone: 657-6958, ext. 2309 (office), ext. 2577 (advertising, news), ext. 2578 (features, photos, copy, sports), ext. 2576 (Editors-in-chief).

Photo by Angie Booth

Publications Designer Kevin Forney was honored with a celebration last Friday in the Gregory Forum. Forney, who has been at the college for 13 years, is "down-shifting" to part-time in the College Publications Office. Pictured with Forney, from left, are colleagues Kathy Nelson, Lisa Wilcox and Lenda Black.

Mark Gallup: Technician of Tomorrow

by Paul Valencia
Staff Writer

Usually, if you are looking for Mark Gallup, you can find him at one of three places. He could be doing his job as a service worker at Penske Truck Leasing, at Clackamas Community College as a lab assistant in the auto mechanics program, or at his home, in his garage, working on his own engines.

But recently he was not at any of these places. He was in Redondo Beach, Calif., close to where he was raised, to receive honors for his mechanical wisdom. The Automotive Service Excellence Award for Mitchell gave Gallup the Technician of Tomorrow title for scoring highest in the nation among students in electrical system and engine performance.

You might get the feeling this guy loves getting his hands dirty and working on anything with an engine and wheels. "I like this stuff. I'm sitting here on my free time up to my elbows in grease and I enjoy it," he said. Even though it is his job, it is also his hobby.

A friend gave him an old engine when he was in the fifth grade, and "I've been working on them ever since," he said. It seems he cannot get enough of engine work. That's why he volunteers his time to be a lab assistant to Ray Conklin, an instructor at Clackamas' Auto Mechanics Department.

Another reason Gallup came back to Clackamas as an assistant is he likes what the program did for him. In fact, it was Conklin who encouraged Gallup to take all the tests for the Technician of Tomorrow Award.

"He and Jerry Cook (another instructor) were very instrumental in this," Gallup explained. "This is a reflection of the CCC program in auto mechanics, which I think is a darn good one because of those men."

Conklin knew that Gallup could take home the award. "He's a real able person," he said. "I wasn't surprised that he scored as high as he did on that test. He can do most things he sets himself up for."

Although Gallup doesn't think the award will help him when he seeks higher employment in the mechanic's field, he said it still makes him feel good. "It doesn't mean a lot in the work force, but it's important to me in other ways."

What about that work force, though? What does Gallup want to do? "I want to be (Ray)," he said jokingly. "Actually, some kind of teaching job would be the ultimate."

Someday, the technician of tomorrow could be teaching at Clackamas. But until then, there is work to be done. This story is over. Mark Gallup has to get back to his engine.

Contest successful; prize winners named

The winners of the recent short story competition will be presented with prizes and will read from their work today in McLoughlin Hall, Rm. 206.

"The competition was a great success. A total of 28 short stories were submitted for judging," according to BeeBee Tan-Beck, who organized the writers' contest. "Initially, it was agreed that the top three entries would be awarded prizes but the quality and number of the entries soon changed to include three honorable mentions."

Prizes will be awarded to Kevin Haines for first place; Diane De Villiere for second place; and Adam Wagner for third place.

Tan-Beck organized the competition in memory of her late husband Gary Beck.

Her husband had been extensively published and co-edited the magazine "Homegrown 2: An Anthology of Asian American Experiences."

Be my Valentine!

Would you like to have a personal message to your Valentine's Day sweetheart printed in 'The Clackamas Print'? Write it on this form and put it in the ad box in the ASG offices.
