

file

Check It Out:
 CCC speaks out on increasing financial demands
 See page 3

The Print

Clackamas

Oregon City, Oregon Clackamas Community College Vol. XXVIII No. 10

Wednesday, Jan. 25, 1995

AT A GLANCE

Compiled by Cori Kargel
 Copy Editor

- ✓ Representatives will be on campus to answer questions about transferring to PSU, services for returning women students and PSU scholarships for women returning to school. Bring your lunch and come to the meeting Jan. 26, from 12:30 to 2 p.m., in CC127.
- ✓ Become a volunteer for Healthy Start of Clackamas County. Bilingual Spanish-speaking volunteers are especially needed. If your skills are in organization, volunteer to work in the Clothing Bank. Training began Jan. 23. For more information, call Dixie Whetsel at 655-8430.
- ✓ Clackamas County estate planning professionals, including attorneys, CPA's and financial planners, are invited to attend a networking and study luncheon hosted by the College Foundation and its Planned Giving Advisory Committee. Patrick J. Green, from the law firm of Davis Wright Tremaine, will discuss "Tuning Up Dysfunctional or Outdated Plans." The luncheon is free, and seating is limited. For more information, or for reservations, call ext. 2402.
- ✓ Learn about the wonders of the Northwest winter skies at the ELC's astronomy class. Participants will use various instruments and survey a number of stellar phenomena. The class will be from 7 to 10 p.m., every Monday through Feb. 6, at the Haggart Memorial Observatory. Cost is $45. For more information, or to register, call ext. 2351.
- ✓ Writers' Club meetings are the first and third Friday of every month. Bring your lunch to B112 and share your work with other writers. For more information, call Diane Averill at ext. 2370.
- ✓ Slots are still open for the European Trip for Women. Tour coordinators are faculty members Ellen Wolfson, Carol Evans and Linda Vogt. For more information or to register, call Wolfson at ext. 2550 or Evans at ext. 2444.
- ✓ GALAB meetings are every Friday, from noon to 1 p.m., in B238. For more information, call Kate Gray at ext. 2371.
- ✓ Country Line Dancing for Women will be held from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m., Jan. 30, in the Gregory Forum. All experience levels are welcome. Register at door. There is a $3 fee.
- ✓ Make sure to check out the classes offered by CCC at North Clackamas Aquatic Park: Beginning Swimming, Aquatic Exercise, Aquatic Fitness and Lifeguard Training. For more information, call ext. 2291.

The Clackamas Print challenges staff, students to save, raise money

by Tina Guinn
 Editor-in-Chief

In the last issue of The Clackamas Print, News Editor Anjanette Booth reported on the drop in full-time equivalent enrollment. This downswing means a revenue loss of approximately $300,000. What does that mean for students?

Due to the projected loss in revenue, the CCC budget committee is looking at a $2 per credit tuition increase for the 1995-1996 school year. However, this is not the only change to be implemented to help combat the tight financial situation.

Fortunately, the money reserves are in "good shape," to handle short term deficit problems, according to a memo sent out by the President's Council

Jan. 11. Although there seems to be no immediate financial difficulties, the budget is expected to move into negative numbers in 1996-97 and 1997-98 when all cash carry over from the previous years is depleted.

The President's Council needs our help raising the budget. Any cost saving and/or revenue-generating ideas would help raise the budget.

That is why we, at The Clackamas Print, have created a list of money-saving. And we challenge all of you to do your part in combating the monetary decrease.

Please direct you ideas to The Clackamas Print Staff in Barlow 104, or call ext. 2309. Thanks for you help!

THE CLACKAMAS PRINT'S WAYS TO RAISE MONEY

1. Parking Fees
2. Auction used equipment
3. Bottle and can drive
4. Advertise rental of Gregory Forum for public and private events
5. Active recruiting of high school seniors: have more on-campus high school related activities.
6. Pay-to-view concerts on campus

See related story on page 3

1600 high school students to swarm CCC

✓ Because of revenue cuts, the skills contest has become more important than ever as a potential source of income from in-coming students

by Jocelyn Gauthier
 Feature Editor

All day classes will be cancelled Feb. 23 for the 17th Annual Clackamas County Skills Competition.

The competition, cosponsored by the Clackamas Education Service District and CCC will start at 9 a.m. and end at 2 p.m.

"Participants come from all Clackamas County schools, public or private," said Mindy Brown, General Coordinator. "We anticipate over 1600 high school students... because of the size almost all the classrooms are used."

The college will look to use revenue generated from incoming high school seniors to alleviate some of the financial burden.

The competition areas include Accounting, Auto Body, Auto, Building Construction, Business Ed., Commercial Art, Computer Science, Drafting, Geography, History, International Ed., Job Interview, Journalism, Manufacturing Technology, Marketing, Mathematics, Student Leadership Forum and Technology Competition.

First-place winners will receive one-term scholarships to CCC, and the top three winners of each competition will be invited to a recognition ceremony on March 13 in the Gregory Forum. The ceremony will include a slide show presentation.

There will also be a School-to-Work Opportunity Fair in the Randall Hall Lobby from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. This will give students a chance to meet professionals from a variety of occupations to gather information about career areas. Students will find help with work permits, applications and job shadow information.

"Many of our own students are helping with the event," Brown said. "It takes a lot of people to make it happen." Each category of competitions has several different tests for different skill levels. So, everyone from first-year to fourth-year Spanish will be taking different tests.

"We're really excited about this, and we're adding more activities for downtime, like the basketball free throw in Randall Lobby." The winners will each receive two Blazer tickets. Music and a prize patrol will be provided by KUFO all day.

Scientists to speak

by Jocelyn Gauthier
 Feature Editor

"Science, Humanity and Technology: Shaping a New Creation," is the name of a five part series, sponsored by CCC's Science Department and the college's chapter of Phi Theta Kappa.

The series, which are free and open to everyone, deal with the impact of science and technology on society and the questions that science and technology raise.

Speakers for the last three parts of the series are Chris Strickland, Feb. 14, Dr. Jon Peters, Feb. 28 and Margie Arighi, March 9. The meetings are held from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m. in Pauling 101.

Strickland holds the Life Science Department Chair, a teacher of biology, anatomy and physiology, a goat breeder and an active member of the Northwest Dairy Goat Association.

He will discuss the implications of our ability to manipulate genes both by breeding techniques and in the laboratory, and will explore some of the ethical issues surrounding it.

Dr. Peters, assistant professor in the School of Medicine at Oregon Health Sciences University, will discuss the use of DNA fingerprinting in the courts, an issue being hotly debated in the O.J. Simpson murder case.

Arighi, a member of the Physical Science Department, will discuss the various technologies available for exploiting nuclear energy, and the benefits and risks these include. Discussions will include the closing of Oregon's only nuclear reactor, the Trojan Nuclear Power Plant, and the controversy that still exists about the disposal of nuclear fuel being stored at the site.

She will also discuss the recent revelations of unreported radiation leaks, and the experimentation during the 40's and 50's from the Hanford Nuclear Reservation just across the Columbia River in Washington.

INDEX

NEWS
 Page 1 & 2

CAMPUS VIEWS
 Page 3

SPORTS
 Page 4

!! ATTENTION !!

AUTHORS NIGHT PRESENTATION
WEDNESDAY, FEB. 1, AT 7 P.M.
IN CCC'S GREGORY FORUM
THREE RENOWNED WRITERS OF CHILDREN'S LITERATURE: LINDA CREW, VIRGINIA EUWER WOLFF AND MIKE THALER WILL DISCUSS THEIR WORKS