

Twain looks back, critiques recent season

Clackamas Women's Basketball Coach Karen Twain believes her team did the best they could have this year, despite the adversity they faced.

Although the team lost their probable starting point guard and two other guards that would have played major roles on this year's team, Twain is still satisfied with the way the team performed during the second half of the season.

The Cougars (13-11 overall, 6-8 in division play) lost those players because of academic reasons. Twain commented that these players will be unable to rejoin the team next year.

"We tried to look beyond it," Twain said. But she also mentioned that it was hard to play without these players who had become such a major part of the team.

Twain commented on each individual player and their contributions to the team this season.

Laura Stahl: sophomore guard/post, good scorer, Southern Division first team selection, conference all-star: "We relied on her all season. She'll be hard to replace." Rachel Ferguson: sophomore post, strong inside player, Southern Division second team selection: "She brings so much to the team. She improved a lot in so many directions." Twain also commented that Ferguson came to Clackamas only this season and that she wished that she had Ferguson for another year.

Melanie Sharp: freshman post, big rebounder, Southern Division honorable mention selection, Southern Division all-freshman first team: "She also improved quickly." Twain said

Sharp came in late because of a long volleyball season. Twain believed that she was playing as well as anyone in the division late in the season.

Stephanie Kadell: sophomore point guard, good passer: "She stepped up in the point guard role. She's done a fantastic job." With Kadell moving on to play at Western Oregon, Twain said, "With her intense playing and the love for the game, she'll really help the program out. They (WOSC) have an excellent basketball program."

Shannon Segerstrom: freshman guard, good outside shooter: "She's a fantastic athlete." Segerstrom joined the team during mid-season. Twain said the only reason that Segerstrom joined the team was because Sharp had mentioned Segerstrom to Twain one day during practice.

Denise Haselwood: freshman guard, good outside shooter, good slashing player: "She's real vocal on the court. She can swing between a 1 and a 2." Twain said she appreciated Haselwood's vocal ability in the defensive end of the court.

Angie Tucker: sophomore post, plays tough in the key: "She was one of our best rebounders. She's a good practice player, a good game player." Twain also mentioned that Tucker was a specialty player in that she was always had the defensive assignment of guarding the opposing team's toughest post.

Angie Womack: freshman post, good post moves: "She was in a tough position this year (because she was a small post). She had a very high shooting percentage."

Chelsea Becher: freshman guard, great touch from the outside: "Chelsea has great speed. She's improved a lot also. She has a lot of potential."

Leslie Knudsen: freshman guard; good defender: "She's improved a ton. She got a lot of rebounds. She's better on defense (than earlier in the season)."

Twain looked to the fact that her team's unity and closeness was a major reason for the success this season.

"The girls always stuck together and had a positive attitude," Twain said. "I can't say that I wasn't pleased with the way we played."

Stahl shows practice makes perfect

Laura Stahl might seem like a quiet young woman off the basketball court, but once she's on the floor, it's a totally different story.

With the help of transfer Rachel Ferguson from Wilson High School and first-year player Melanie Sharp from Sweet Home, Stahl made the Cougars competitive in the NWAACC Southern Division. Clackamas Women's Basketball Coach Karen Twain sees a lot in Laura Stahl.

Twain acknowledges that Stahl excels in the classroom as well as basketball. With a grade point average near 3.5, Stahl hopes to get a scholarship at a four-year college. She is still undecided on where she will go next year.

Not only does Stahl lead her team in scoring, but she has also led by example in helping her teammates to improve.

As a sophomore physical therapy major from Hermiston, Stahl has made the adjustment of living in a larger town, as well as living a successful life at college.

She says that her father has helped and encouraged her to remain involved in sports. Stahl says that with the support of her family, she has enjoyed playing basketball.

Stahl was selected as an NWAACC Southern Division first team all-star.
