

Wednesday, February 7, 1996

Clackamas Community College

AT A GLANCE

Compiled by Cori Kargel

Business Manager

Transfer students: Don't forget about "Moving on Week," Feb. 12 to 16. Many activities are scheduled, including the opportunity for students to ask about transferring, choosing a career, writing a resume, job searching and interviewing techniques. Twenty-two colleges will be on campus to answer questions transfer students may have on Transfer Day, Feb. 12.

Attention: All Native American students are invited to attend the next meeting of the Native American Students Club, tomorrow, at 5 p.m., in the Community Center.

The John Inskeep Environmental Learning Center will be holding its Annual Meeting and Open House, Feb. 17, from 2 to 4 p.m.

CCC Environmental Committee meetings are every Weds., from 11 to 11:50 a.m., in P102. Everyone is invited to participate in focus groups: Helping the ELC, Bottle Bill Expansion, Recycling on Campus, AmeriCorp Projects and Environmental Week. For more information, call Ken Eschelmann at ext. 2245.

CCC's Life and Career Options Program is sponsoring a free personal finance seminar on Feb. 13, 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., in the Elizabeth McClung Brod Family Resource Center. For more information, call Betsey Rixford at ext. 2526.

Petitions for graduation are now being accepted. Only petitions submitted by March 29 are guaranteed inclusion in the graduation program. Petitions will be accepted after that date with no guarantee for inclusion. The graduation ceremony will be June 7. For more information, see the Registrar's office or the Help Center.

The works of seven Oregon landscape artists will be on display in the Pauling Gallery through today. CCC Painting and Drawing instructor Leland John is sponsoring the show.

Interested in helping your community? Sign up today in CC140 for the Winter Term Community Energy Project. The project will be Feb. 17. For more information, see Brinda Fearn in CC140 or call her at ext. 2247.

Volunteers are needed to help adults learn to read. For more information, please call Joe Van Zutphen at ext. 2724.

The Annual Regional High School Skills Contest will be held on Thurs., Feb. 22. More than 1,000 high school students will be on campus competing in a variety of subject areas. Day classes at the college will be cancelled.

Lonsdale pitches campaign at CCC

Amy K. Hanson
Managing Editor

Oregon Senatorial Candidate Harry Lonsdale spoke to a crowd of about 40 people at Clackamas last Friday afternoon.

Lonsdale discussed his stand on important issues facing Oregon including campaign finance reform, environmental protection, balancing the budget, health care security and many others.

As an example of the need to reform campaign financing Lonsdale said, "One zip code in the upper eastside of Manhattan, contributes more money to members of Congress running for election or for reelection than all the people in each of 22 states...They're simply buying access, they're buying influence, and ultimately buying votes. If you don't believe that votes can be bought and sold read Bob Packwood's diaries.

"I'm not saying that they're all crooks, but we have a very corrupt system in this country...I can't change it, you can't change it, but the members of Congress can change it at will, but they don't because that's how they got there and that's how they intend to stay there."

In his campaign, Lonsdale is already complying with Measures 6 and 9, by not accepting out of state money, no PAC (Political Action Committee) money and no contributions over $500.

In regard to education spending as it relates to the military, Lonsdale believes that something must be done to lessen the effects of high college costs.

"I'm a big fan of education, I love AmeriCorp. AmeriCorp is too small in my opinion. It is one of the best things that Clinton ever did," said Lonsdale. "Students graduate from college $25-50,000 in debt. That's wrong. It certainly isn't the way that I finished college years ago. You either went on scholarship or you paid your way and the cost of college was much, much less than it is now. I like Clinton's plan for more aid to education."

Photo by Lora Wahrgren

Oregon Senatorial Candidate, Harry Lonsdale, addressed important issues at Clackamas last Friday.

Lonsdale agrees with Senator Ron Wyden's proposal to make college tuition tax deductible.

"We somehow have to get more kids through college... young people today have a whole lot of debt laid on them; some people are in debt for 10 years," said Lonsdale.

Members of the audience showed concern for lack of military benefits for veterans, balancing the budget, the role of the United States in keeping world peace, as well as a telecommunications bill to rate and regulate TV and Internet.

Task force formed for night classes

Chad Patteson
Editor-in-Chief

Night students concerned with being "in-touch" with daytime campus activities now have a stronger voice, thanks to the efforts of a newly created task force.

Last Wednesday, students, staff, instructors and other members of the community met to discuss the concerns of night students. Subjects of interest included: library hours, safety issues, closure of school offices, night class availability and event information.

The task force will meet again on March 6 at 5:30 in CC127 to report on the progress made addressing these issues. Meetings are open to the public.

'Jesus 2000' lands at Clackamas

Damon Fouts, Staff Writer & Jon Roberts, Feature Editor

Jesus may turn two millennia this year, so CCC is joining the national symposium "Jesus at 2000" this weekend to mark His potential and unprecedented birth year.

Connected with Oregon State University (OSU) in Corvallis, the symposium will be televised on Feb. 9 in CC127 and Feb. 10 in Pauling 101.

Although free and open to the public at CCC, the symposium will be televised via satellite to over 200 sites around the country. It will be held before a sold-out audience of 1,100.

Marcus J. Borg, a professor of Religion and Culture at OSU, will join scholars from Harvard, DePaul, Columbia and Syracuse Universities and Claremont Graduate School in the teleconference.

According to a brochure created by the Trinity Institute which is sponsoring the event, "'Jesus at 2000' will be the first national symposium commemorating the 2000th anniversary of the birth of Jesus, who was born no later than 4 B.C."

The possibility that Christ was born four years B.C. (Before Christ) is the reason "Jesus 2000" is being held this year.

Six theology scholars will speak on different topics. Their presentations will last from one and one-quarter hours to one and one-half hours. The program will take place from 8:45 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday, and 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Saturday. Professor Borg will speak Friday from 9:15 to 10:30 a.m. A concluding panel discussion involving all six speakers will take place Saturday from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m.

For a free subscription to the "Jesus 2000" symposium, send an e-mail message to: lists@harpercollins.com with the following message: subscribe jesus2000 (no end punctuation). There is also a World Wide Web site at http://www.harpercollins.com/news/jes2000.htm.

Melting mayhem

Photo by Chad Patteson

Near Mulino, Tim Benjamin surveys flood damage to his property after Monday's downpour. Roads and streams were laden with water because of melted ice and heavy rainfall. Due to icy driving conditions Monday, day classes at the college were cancelled; along with other schools from Southwest Washington to Salem.

Albee lectures at CCC

Three-time Pulitzer prize-winning playwright, Edward Albee will visit Clackamas this Friday.

During the day, Albee will conduct workshops on "Creative Writing" and "Acting and Directing."

In the "Creative Writing" workshop Albee will critique three student written one-act plays.

The plays are:

The Other Side of the Bridge by Michael James O'Connor

Angela and Howard by Roland Narty

The Thanksgiving Brick by Elizabeth Klammer

A lecture entitled "The Playwright vs. The Theater" will take place in Gregory Forum at 7:30 p.m. Doors open at 7 p.m., seating by 7:25 p.m.

As of yesterday, 58 tickets for "The Playwright vs. The Theater" out of 390 were still available. Tickets can be purchased in the CCC Bookstore. Cost is $4 for CCC students, $8 for CCC staff, seniors and other students (with student body card) and $16 for the general public.