public safety training center, and expanding the apprenticeship training center and the horticulture warehouse. Continued effort toward staff development and planning is part of the college's strategy.

"I do think the ideas that exist in this room and throughout the organization to maintain that creative spirit and gives us the raw material we need to get us through what will be a difficult transition period," Keyser said.

The college plans to honor all bargained agreements. Keyser acknowledged he is proud of the agreements because he believes they help everyone do a better job.

"We're going to be fairly conservative," said Keyser about any major changes at the college. "Don't panic, but worry enough to get the creative juices flowing."

today's morning session of Clackamas's Seasoned Adult Enrichment Program.

Ken Ames of the Department of Anthropology at Portland State University will focus his discussion on the Chinook Indians.

The afternoon session concludes the second part of a two-part health series, "Old World Approaches to Lifespan Development and Physical Fitness." Join Ged Desforges, Fulbright Exchange instructor from Sheffield, England, as he offers the British perspective on physical fitness in the third age.

The sessions are from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. and 12:30 to 2:30 p.m., at Harmony Center, located at 7616 SE Harmony Road in Milwaukie. Cost for one or both sessions is $4.

Environmental educators reveal strategies for environmental learning

As most good teachers know, getting students to ask questions is half the battle of getting them to learn.

Techniques for generating questions and other educational tips will be shared by Jim Martin and other master environmental educators at a special workshop designed for teachers of grades 4 through 12.

"Questioning Strategies for Environmental Learning" will be offered at the John Inskeep Environmental Learning Center on the college campus.

There is a $15 fee for the workshop, which is scheduled from 9 a.m. to noon, on Saturday, Nov. 16.

For registration or further information, contact the Environmental Learning Center at ext. 2351.

PTK ceremony scheduled

The first Phi Theta Kappa induction ceremony for honor students will be held Thursday, Nov. 14, in the Gregory Forum, rooms B and C, at 7 p.m. Family and friends are welcome to attend. Keynote speaker is College President John Keyser. Contact Dave Arter at ext. 2210 for more information.

Cleaning without toxins explored at workshop

Some of the most dangerous substances are not in barrels surrounded by signs and fencing. Some of them are under kitchen sinks, in pantries and cupboards.

Household cleaners and other environmental toxins are thought by many to cause problems such as headaches and recurrent illness and allergies. Can they be avoided? Are there other alternatives?

A workshop to address these issues is being planned at the John Inskeep Environmental Learning Center. Led by educator Teresa Riggs, the workshop will explore methods of cleaning without using dangerous substances.

The workshop is scheduled from 1 to 4 p.m., Saturday, Nov. 16. There is a $15 charge for the class.

For more information or to register, contact the Environmental Learning Center at ext. 2351.

Renaissance lecture, concert scheduled

A free concert and lecture featuring Ron Andrico, lutenist, and Michael Tuomi, tenor, will be held on Wednesday, Nov. 20 in the Gregory Forum at 10 a.m. This event is sponsored by the English department. For more information, contact David Mount at ext. 2604.
