a 6.3 point average in three games (15-10, 15-3, 15-6) Friday evening.

"We struggled a little bit. Yet the fight in us kept us going even though we didn't play as crisp as against Yakima," noted Woods.

Clackamas had only 10 hitting errors to Highline's 20, giving the Cougars a 6.4-percent hitting efficiency edge.

Seegerstrom led the team with 17 assists and 12 digs. Iverson had 13 kills, two service aces and 11 digs. Filley added 16 kills, 22 digs and three block shots. Jennifer Dostert blocked three shots. Misti Murray had seven assists in one game.

"Against Highline, I thought Misti-Kae Filley stepped in and she pounded the ball, hitting almost 50-percent," said Woods.

Clackamas first met rival Spokane Saturday morning in four games (16-14, 15-3, 10-15 and 15-13).

The Cougars started strong but faltered in the third game and came from behind in the fourth, from a 0-4 deficit, to win the match.

Filley led three Cougars in double figures in both kills and digs, with 23 and 36 digs. Felando and Iverson had 12, 24 and 10, 23 respectively. Seegerstrom added nine kills, 38 assists and four service aces. Six out of the eight Cougars had 15 or more digs in the match.

matches will be held in Bellevue, WA on Dec. 7. The cost of admission is $4 for students with ID, seniors, and children and $5 for adults. There will be three matches: 3 p.m., 4:15 and 5:30. The matches will be two out of three.

There will be a banquet on Dec. 10 at 7 p.m. in Gregory Forum. Anyone can attend and the price is $8 per person. Woods asks that people who want to attend let her know as soon as possible.

(Note: In last week's volleyball story there were two errors: Their last game was against Chemeketa and Chris Younglove, not Amy Felando, will be in the Sophomore All-Star match.)

Youth Softball

Clackamas will hold the 6th Annual Softball Hitting Clinic for girls ages 13 to 18 on Jan. 26 or Jan. 27 for three hours.

The cost is $25 per participant. (Because this camp fills early, no refunds will be made for cancellations after Jan. 22.)

Instruction will include bunting, slapping and hitting fundamentals.

The camp will be videotaped, and the participants will be able to go over the tapes of their practice with a coach or player from Clackamas women's softball team.

The time will be determined in the future and participants will be notified.

For more information, call the Community Recreation Office at 657-6958 ext. 2211.

Softball Camp

Clackamas will be offering a softball camp on Jan. 6, 13 and 20 from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

The cost is $20 per person. Instruction in pitching, bunting, slapping, fielding and throwing will be provided by the Cougar softball team and its coaches.

The Clackamas Print did not run a normal paper this week because of the number of students who take an extra day for their Thanksgiving holiday. However, we felt the volleyball team's winning the championship needed covered this week. This paper was put out with the help of the following members of the Print staff:
