

what is going to happen when the clock ticks over into the new millennium?????????

"I think that we are going to go into the new year and hopefully everything is going to go as planned. We are all going to make our new year's resolutions and we are all going to break them."

Saida Johnston

"The only thing that kinda worries me is the stock market. I think people might pull out at the tail end and a lot of people might lose a lot of money but the people that are in for the long haul are going to be okay."

Jacob Allen

"I think that everyone is going to go ballistic and have a wild chaotic party!"

Kilyn Daniels

"A lot of disappointment; I predict nothing."

Duane Newell

"I don't know; I haven't really thought about it. I know I will be with my family and that is where I want to be."

Chippi Bello

"Nothing besides partying. Nothing technical is going to happen. I think it is going to be fun."

Molly Corcoran

Photos and quotes gathered by Sarah Welch and Mandy Good.

"Not much. If anything bad, it is going to be from people going crazy."

Tina Criswell

"I think there will be a few computer glitches. I think the major thing is going to be when people totally overreact and freak out over it."

Marci Riehle

"I think that most companies will be fine. There will not be too much damage at all. Smaller companies, single owners...they might have some trouble, but I don't think it is going to be as big as the hype is making it."

Tera Moser

"New Year's Eve is on a Friday so that is going to be kind of psycho. All of the people that think the world is going to end are probably going to flip out and go in their little nuclear shelters. Everyone else is going to have fun."

Amanda Colts

DISCLAIMER

The Clackamas World News is a special millennium edition, with our apologies to the Weekly World News, which is a tacky tacky tabloid. All articles here, with the exception of the student poll, above, are completely and utterly untrue. We apologize if we have offended anyone, but it could have been much worse!