With all the crazy action going on in the theater this summer students might find themselves flabbergasted by the amount of options at their disposal.

Anyone looking for non-stop thrills need look no further than Ben Stiller's latest roller-coaster of laughs "Dodgeball."

For those members of the movie going public with significant others, "Spiderman" might offer viewers a bit of romance and mystery.

If perchance those little kiddies are interested in some great times and high adventure, young "Harry Potter" might be a good choice for such an individual.

Finally, there might exist some truly radcool humans in the world ... if that be the case, those people would obviously spend their hard-earned loot on "Alien vs Predator."
