

'The Man Who Came to Dinner' opens this weekend

Page 9

NWAACC, ladies' style

KEONI MCHONE Contributed

The women's cross country team runs in a pack and attacks the back at NWAACCs.

N.P. Delzell

The Clackamas Print

Excuse me miss, what's your game?

If you haven't noticed by now, the Cougar women's sports teams happen to be dominating the NWAACC South this fall. Soccer, volleyball and women's cross country are all currently sitting phat in the No. 1 position for their respective leagues. (The men's cross country team also won the South and got second at NWAACCs—this is their shout-out.)

But this article is for the women. So let's look at the facts. In only their third year of existence the soccer players, or footballers finished their regular season 16-0-2. They just routed Treasure Valley CC 3-0 in their NWAACC quarterfinal game last Saturday. They still are making Clackamas history as they head into this weekend's NWAACC semifinal game and possibly the championship game.

Running hard this year was the women's cross country team. They were just able to win the Southern Region Championship as well.

Head Cross Country Coach Keoni McHone said that women generally look for more guidance than men do when it comes to the coaching aspect of cross country. He attributed this year's success to were voted to the All-Star game which will be held on Dec. 4. This week, they head to Gresham to partake in their version of the NWAACC Championships looking to improve on last year's No. 2 finish.

"I'm very proud of all the Clackamas athletes and staff," Woods said. "It's just great ... Keoni has been a part of Clackamas forever and Tracey has so much soccer experience. Now that we are all full time staff, it really helps us keep an eye on our athletes ... we have always had great direction under Jim Jackson."

With all the success that CCC has had in the past few years, Clackamas was destined to come up on this fall sports monopoly. Clackamas has an outstanding sports program as a whole, so go holler at all the Clackamas sports. Home games are free for students and staff.

the experience of the women and their ability to run as a team.

The volleyballer women have always had success under Head Coach Kathie Woods. This year, however, the women have held two out of the three No. 1 rankings in the NWAACC Coaches' Poll. They finished their league season with a record of 11-1 and won all three tournaments they participated in. Last week, five volleyballers

SPECIAL SPORTS ANALYSIS

Scholarship deadline fast approaching

Just next week is the deadline for CCC scholarships, which can mean the difference between school and no school for some students

Katie Wilson

&

Ben Maras

The Clackamas Print

The second open enrollment period for scholarships is going on right now, the deadline for turning in applications being Nov. 22, by 5 p.m. There are considerably fewer scholarships offered during the second enrollment period at Clackamas but there is still a wide variety available to students.

Clackamas' scholarships are open to anyone who is enrolled at the college, plans to enroll or who plans to transfer to a four-year college or university. Applicants must have a 2.0 GPA or higher—though this requirement can vary according to the scholarship, have a high school diploma, GED or high school equivalency, and meet the requirements for at least one scholarship offered.

One of the scholarships offered directly through Clackamas is the Niemeyer Educational Award Scholarship. Intended for professional technology, business, and computer science majors, the scholarship is awarded to 15 students, each of whom get $1,000.

For students heading for a job in the law enforcement field, Oregon State Sheriff Association Scholarship offers $800 for second-year students majoring in criminal justice/law enforcement/corrections, and who are enrolled for 12 or more credit hours.

Along similar lines the Brouillette Family Endowed Scholarship, which is also for students in the criminal justice field, although they must major in the area. The scholarship

Please see SCHOLARSHIPS, Page 3

Interesting options to consider Winter term

Here is a blend of new and unique classes that are open Winter term. Check the class schedule for a plethora of new Business and Building Construction classes as well.

ART

ART-008: Personal Totems & Marking, 0 credits

Creation of a personal totem. Only meets Saturday 1/15, 1/22, 1/29 and 2/5.

ART-008: Printmaking, 0 credits

Study of papers, inks and basic printmaking knowledge. Only meets Saturday 1/22 and 1/29.

ART-008: Ring Casting, 0 credits

Create wearable jewelry using wax and centrifugal casting. Only meets Saturday 1/29 and Sunday 1/30.

ART-197: Gallery Design & Management, 2 credits

Fundamentals of managing a visual arts gallery.

ART-277: Welding: Metal Sculpture, 2 credits

Study of history of welding arts as well as hand-on experience with the craft.

AUTOMOTIVE SERVICE TECHNOLOGY

Am-106: Fix Your Own Car, 2

credits

Offers knowledge to do basic services and repairs on your own car.

BUILDING CONSTRUCTION

BC-120: Project Team Tools, 3 credits

Use project management tools to analyze, prepare negotiations and contracts, etc. Online only.

BUSINESS

BA-200: Advanced Project Management I, 10 credits

Project management concepts and tools, case studies, as well as advanced applications, topics, innovation and praxis.

ENGLISH LITERATURE

ENG-210: Contemporary Native American Literature, 4 credits

Fiction and poetry by modern Native American writers.

ENG-225: Creative Nonfiction Literature, 4 credits

Analysis of nonfiction writing, such as journalism, memoirs, science writing and essays.

ELECTRONICS & MICRO-ELECTRONICS

EET-157: Digital Logic, 3 credits

Using industry standard devices to understand logic principles.

HISTORY

HST-122: Readings in European History, 4 credits

Covers from 1300 to 1800.

HUMANITIES

HUM-151: Columbia Basin, 5 credits

Social issues of the management of the Columbia River Basin and its resources.

JOURNALISM

J-218: Editing and Design, 3 credits

With industry standard tools, involves the journalistic style of editing and designing your own newsletter.

MUSIC

MUS-199: Moviemaking &

Music Seminar, 1 credit

Learn to make videos and soundtracks.

PHILOSOPHY

PHL-213: Asian Philosophy, 4 credits

The interrelating belief systems of India, China and Japan.

SCIENCE: BIOLOGY

BI-165C: Natural History/Oregon Coast, 3 credits

Ecology of the Oregon coast. Lab with four required field trips.

WRITING

WR-239: Creative Writing:

Intensive Nonfiction, 1 credit
Techniques of writing creative nonfiction, such as literary journalism, memoirs and personal essays.

WR-249: Publishing on Land and Online, 1 credit

Online publishing versus 'on land' publishing. Only meets Friday 2/18 and Saturday 2/19.