

College Republicans didn't get it 'Right'

Sam Krause
Co-Editor-in-Chief

Republican Club posters were removed from around campus after ASG Advisor Mindy Brown received complaints from the staff.

Mike Caudle, academic adviser, and Anne Donelson, director of public affairs, consulted the Secretary of State's Office to determine exact guidelines.

"We're trying to find the exact right thing to do," said Brown, "so I can guide people in the future."

Campus Republican President Tim Lussier said he didn't know there was a problem until Brown brought it to his attention.

"A club can put up a poster as long as they have contact information or they're promoting an event," said Brown.

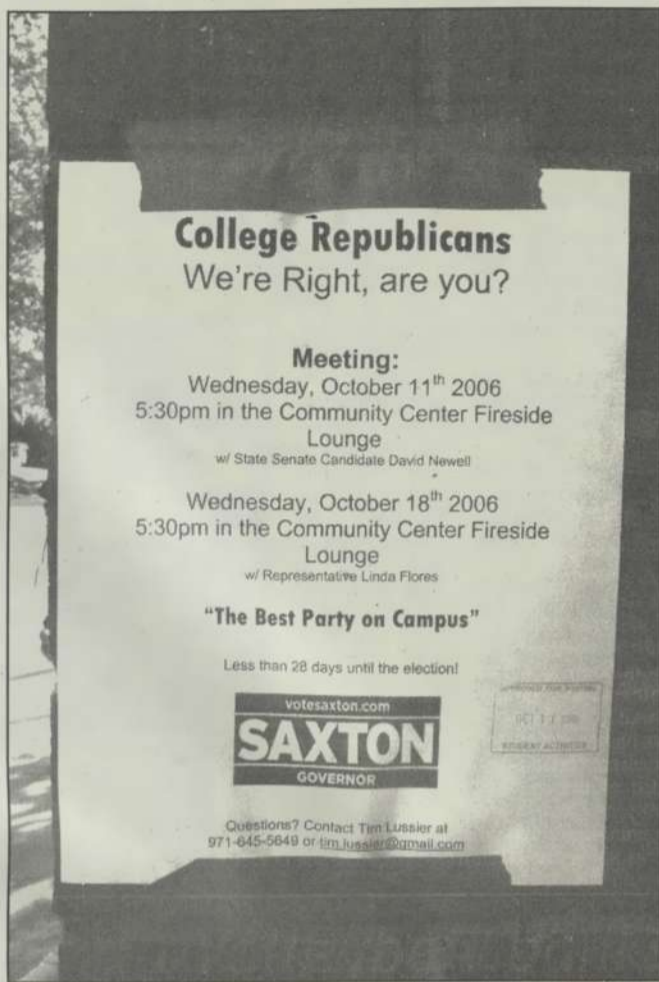

What isn't clear is whether a club can use taxpayers' money given to them by the college to support a political candidate, said Brown.

According to Brown, this election cycle has been a lot easier on the campus than in years past.

"We've had a lot higher-level problems [in the past]," Brown said. "We learn all the time by people testing the water."

As a result of past issues, petitioners must register with Facilities before gathering signatures on campus. Facilities keep track of activities happening on campus.

Petitioners should have a college-issued lanyard around their neck, proving they have been cleared to be on campus.

Adam J. Manley Clackamas Print

This poster for the college Republicans' meeting caused some to wonder if the club was breaking any guidelines restricting the use of taxpayers' dollars to support a political cause. "The Best Party on Campus" holds their meetings in the Fireside Lounge Wednesdays.

As for the Republican Club posters with Saxton's logo, they have been removed because they contained information about past meetings that are no longer relevant, according to Lussier.

Campus club shoots down competition

Katie Wilson
Co-Editor-in-Chief

The college's criminal justice students held their own at their regional conference and competition just outside of San Jose, Calif. last week.

Ida Flippo, criminal justice instructor, and nine of her students were present as a part of the national criminal justice fraternity, American Criminal Justice Association/Lambda Alpha Epsilon.

The theme of the conference was "The Real SVU," according to Flippo. Speakers from the San Jose task force talked about sexual assault predators and victims. Nonprofit organization Perverted Justice was present as well. They talked about how to identify predators on-line and how students can become interns with Perverted Justice.

Students and professionals also participated in competitions drawing from physical agility, crime scene investigation, firearms and academic knowledge in various criminal justice disciplines.

"Ida took it all," said student Ben Caldwell. "She kicked ass."

"The goal is to foster professionalism, and to promote the importance of knowledge and training among current and future law enforcement professionals," said Flippo. "It is also an opportunity for students to network with each other and with agencies outside of our state."

Another purpose of the conference was to prepare students for competition on the national level, said Flippo.

Students get an opportunity to travel and be exposed to parliamentary procedure.

"Overall, it was good, I think," said Caldwell. "Only two people came back injured."

Caldwell hurt his wrist and another student, Eric Cameron, hurt his ankle during the physical agility competition.

American Criminal Justice Association's Regional Conference

CCC Awards List

Second place, Physical Agility Competition: male over 200 lbs division - Scott Ignazzitto

Second place, Crime Scene Investigation: student team of Erin Ahlbin, Scott Ignazzitto, Stefanie Westfall

First place, Crime Scene Investigation: student team of Skylar Bush, Ben Caldwell, Jesse Powell

First place, Firearms Competition: student team of Skylar Bush, Ben Caldwell, Jesse Powell

Second place, Police Administration: Eric Cameron
Third place, Police Administration: Jesse Powell

First place, Criminal Procedure: Eric Cameron

Third place, Juvenile Law: Ben Caldwell

Third place, Corrections Administration: Jesse Powell

Second place, ACJA Knowledge: Ida Flippo

First place, Corrections: Ida Flippo

First place, Juvenile Law: Ida Flippo

First place, Criminal Procedure: Ida Flippo

First place, Police Administration: Ida Flippo

Top Overall Academic Award in the professional division: Ida Flippo

campus SAFETY

All reports are taken from CCC's campus safety incident logs. Summaries are edited for clarity, not content.

10.18.06

5:40 p.m.

Cadet reported juvenile on bike riding slowly between cars looking into them, until he spotted cadet and rode towards Oregon City High school.

10.19.06

7:43 a.m.

Contact with white female juvenile. Minor in possession of tobacco.

5:45 p.m.

Cadet reported white male attempting to steal gas from parked vehicle in McLoughlin parking lot. Upon approach, suspect fled on foot towards the Kingsberry apartments.

CAMPUS NEWS & EVENTS

Dealing with Transitions and Change: Consider the issues and resistance to change, and learn ways to adjust, adapt and accept change. Barlow 240, 3 to 5 p.m. FREE!

A Smart Marketing Seminar will be held Fri., Nov. 10 at the Harmony campus. Guest speaker Bob Sherk, a former marketing executive, will provide marketing advice for small business owners. Cost is $150. Contact is 503-656-4447.

Estonian Choir Concert: The Unistus Chamber Choir, comprised of CCC alumni and friends, will perform an Estonian Requiem at the Milwaukie Lutheran Church Sun., Nov. 12. Cost $10 and $5 for students and seniors.

The Giving Tree: Applications for your children to receive gifts are now available in the ASG office. Requested gifts must be for your children only. They must be turned in by Mon., Nov. 13. Children are defined as anyone under 18.

The Great American Smoke-out: The ASG will be hosting a BBQ "smoke-out" in front their office and the Bill Brod Community Center on Thurs., Nov. 16. It's purpose is to draw attention to a national effort to help people quit smoking.

"It's great to participate in courses where the material you learn is applied, then discussed by the whole group. There are many times people share perspectives that I've never considered."

Garrett Beck
Management and Organizational Leadership, 2006 graduate

Begin with the end in mind

sps.georgefox.edu • 888-888-0178

Degree completion programs for working adults

Information meetings at 6:30 p.m.
Oct. 25, Nov. 2 and 8
George Fox Portland Center
12753 S.W. 68th Ave., Portland
Nov. 14
Providence Medical Plaza
3510 NE 122nd, Ste. 200, Portland

GEORGE FOX
SCHOOL OF
PROFESSIONAL STUDIES

a matter of mind and spirit