the week in horoscopes

By Swami N. Machiavelli

ARIES: (March 21-April 19): The planets say that you are the next prophet. This week should be spent assembling your team of 12 seemingly homeless guys and buying a fake beard.

TAURUS: (April 20-May 20): Everyone that smiles at you this week is a rapist - carry Mace and use often.

GEMINI: (May 21-June 21): The planets are in the perfect alignment for you to rob a bank, invest in a small army of mercenaries, and march on the federal government.

CANCER: (June 22-July 22): You will contract vaginal warts - even if you have a penis.

LEO: (July 23-August 22): Due to the recent position of Jupiter and the Sun in direct relation to the GC-118 galaxy, you might have a decent week. Of course because of the lateral positioning of PSR J0108-1431 Pulsar in relation to Phobos, the second moon of Mars, you also may be eaten by ferrets.

VIRGO: (August 23-September 22): You'll noticed that Virgo sounds a lot like "virgin" and the planets say there are good odds you are one - nothing is going to change this week.

LIBRA: (September 23-October 22): Assuming you survived last week, look for your luck to finally turn around.

SCORPIO: (October 23 - November 21): Libras will be looking for their luck to turn around this week- take advantage; strike hard.

SAGGITARIUS: (November 22-December 21): After reading this it's within your best interest to remove your pants. Hey, blame the stars, not me.

CAPRICORN: (December 22-January 19): TV Guide magazine says you'll be especially good at making friends this week- they're wrong.

AQUARIUS: (January 20-February 18): The stars will bring peace and joy this week - mostly for your worst enemies, bitter rivals, and your grand parents.

PISCES: (February 19-March 20): Now is the safest time for you to renew your belief in magic and flying. Recommended tests sites this week include: Portland's Wells Fargo Center, the US Bancorp Tower, and the nearest fast food restaurant to your house.
