Meet with College and University Representatives to Learn More About Transferring to Their Schools

Oregon Transfer Day comes to campus

Clackamas Community College is hosting the Oregon Transfer Day event on Thursday, Jan. 23 in the Gregory Forum from 10 a.m. - 1 p.m.

The annual event happens at all 17 community colleges across the state. Representatives from 33 universities will be on campus to meet with students who are planning on transferring to four-year universities or who are looking into doing so. A representative from the Ford Foundation Scholarship will also be on site to answer questions.

Gwenda Oshiro, academic advisor, said that the event is an excellent opportunity for students to connect with colleges and learn about requirements.

"Every transfer student should go to Transfer Day," Oshiro said.

P. J. Martineau, academic advisor, said representatives are eager to share information about their schools and students should take advantage of their willingness.

"[We] want students to see their options," Martineau said, "and find the best fit for their personal goals."

Having the event on campus saves students from having to travel to other institutions that interest them, said Martineau.

"It's a wealth of knowledge on campus," Martineau said.

Jordan Leonetti, who is in his last year at CCC, is looking at Oregon State University to complete his business degree and plans to attend the event for the information on scholarship opportunities and deadlines.

Janna Newman, a graduating student, is already decided on her college and will be dual-enrolled at PSU come Spring term. She said she is most interested in attending to get the Ford Foundation scholarship information packets.

Every transfer student should go to Transfer Day."

Students who sign up for the event will be entered into a drawing for door prizes and will be given a list of questions to be used as conversation starters.

Shuttle addition

The free-to-ride shuttle service connecting Clackamas Town Center with the Oregon City campus has extended its hours and added a stop to the route at the Harmony Campus.

Last term, Clackamas Community College added a second shuttle to its service to keep up with demand. Now, as of Jan. 9, that auxiliary shuttle will be running until 6 p.m. Monday through Thursday and making stops at the Harmony campus. The primary shuttle will continue to run on the original schedule Monday through Thursday until 3:35 p.m., on Fridays until 11:25 a.m.

Brenda Marks, who oversees student life and leadership, said students on the Harmony campus needed easier access.

Under the old schedule, a student would still need to walk about 15 minutes in the elements to get to class after arriving at the town center.

The new schedule is posted on the school website, at the bus turn-around on the Oregon City campus and can be picked up in the ASG office, CC152.
