

Upcoming Fall Events

Oct 1 / International Tea & Talk

Noon - 1:30 p.m. Community Center Fireside Room

This event is open to staff and students alike. Tea & Talk is a time for international students to familiarize themselves with the college and local community as well as a space and time to ask questions and learn about other cultures.

Oct 3 / Welcome Week: Dollar BBQ

11:30 a.m. - 1:30 p.m. Quad

Welcome Week Dollar BBQ! Hot dogs, chips and a drink for just $1!

Oct 7 / DMC Film Festival

6 - 9 p.m. McLoughlin Auditorium

Digital Media Communication Film Festival will showcase short films, animations and motion graphics created by students from the past year.

Oct 8 / First Language Exchange

Noon - 1 p.m. Community Center Fireside Room

Language Exchange is an opportunity to help others practice their target language. The first 30 minutes will be focused on English practice and help, with the following 30 minutes divided into groups with the intent of learning the variety of languages students and community members have to offer.

Oct 9 / Esther Stutzman: Ethnobotany

11 a.m. - 1 p.m. McLoughlin Auditorium

Stutzman is a native Oregonian and traditional American Indian storyteller of Kalapuya/Coos heritage. She learned the stories from her grandmothers and has been telling stories of the ancient ways for over 50 years. Her topic for this event is about our region's plants and their practical uses through the traditional knowledge of our local culture and people. Admission is free.

Oct 9 / First Fall Farmers Market

11 a.m. - 1 p.m. Quad

Fall term, our Organic Farming program Food Harvest class will have fantastic produce for sale. All produce is grown on the campus farm using organic farming practices. The farmers market held is on Wednesdays, Oct. 9-30, or until produce stops growing, 11 a.m.-1 p.m., at the Oregon City campus' Community Center. Proceeds provide funding for general student scholarships.

Oct 31 / Day of the Dead Celebration

11:30 a.m. - 1 p.m. Community Center Mall Area
