

Sculpture history f lls campus

If you take a walk around Clackamas Community College in Oregon City, you will notice many pieces of art and unique sculptures. Several artworks were brought to campus through a grant from the Clackamas County Cultural Coalition. Other pieces were purchased through endowments, created as parts of a Sculpture

Invitational, or donated directly to the college. The college has other pieces that they have acquired in their campus collection as well. The Clackamas Print will showcase these additional art pieces throughout the year on our website at thelackamasprint.com.

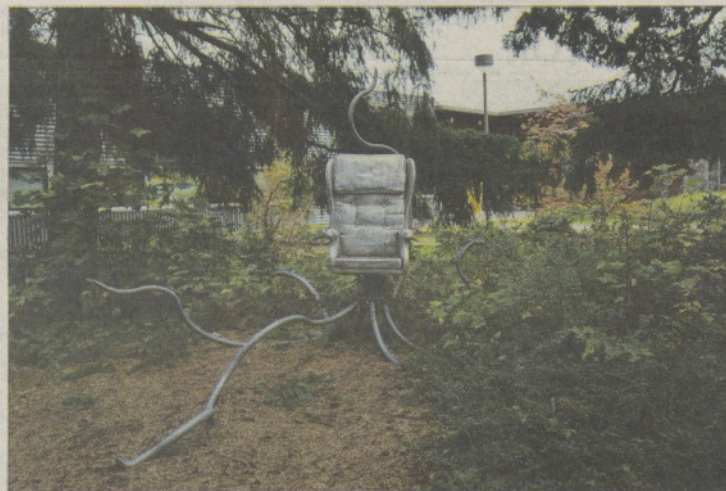

PHOTO BY JOSEPH LOHMOLDER

Chair by Katherine Ali was purchased in 2013 for $7,500 with funds from the Chuck Clemans Sculpture Garden Endowment.

PHOTO BY JOSEPH LOHMOLDER

Couch, by Tamsie Ringler 2003, purchased by the college in 2008 for $1,000 with funds from the Alexander Art Gallery Endowment.

PHOTO BY AYLA FASHANA

The Chuck Clemans Sculpture Garden sign was made by Rick True and commissioned by Nancy Hungerford. She is the widow of long-time Board of Education member, Chuck Clemans.

PHOTO BY AYLA FASHANA

Vital Nature of Man by MJ Anderson was purchased in 2014 for $10,000 from the Chuck Clemans Sculpture Garden Endowment. It is made of Bardiglio Marble.

PHOTO BY JOSEPH LOHMOLDER

Tendonitis, by Rick True as part of a Sculpture Invitational.

PHOTO BY JOSEPH LOHMOLDER

Sphere #2 by Ivan McLean. Selected as best in show. Purchased for $10,000 through the Chuck Clemans Sculpture Garden endowment set up by Nancy Hungerford to honor her late husband.