New Hires in Management

Joe Lane, Jr. Hired as Internal Auditor

Tribal member Joe Lane, Jr. has been hired as the internal auditor for Chinook Winds.

Lane has lived in Keizer since returning to Oregon in 1983. He worked for Southern Pacific Railroad for more than 20 years, spending most of those years in management. His audit experience is the result of roughly 10 years of traveling for the railroad examining station/yard/facility operations. He spent the last six and one-half years in customer service work for the Willamette & Pacific Railroad in Albany.

Lane's reason for applying for this position at Chinook Winds is best summed up in his own words. "I've been wanting to make a career change and the right opening finally came along. I see working at Chinook Winds as an opportunity to participate in tribal development. Hopefully, I'll do it well enough to feel that I've given something back to the tribe since I've benefited from Restoration like every member."
