A spiritual letter to Norma Kentta from a friend and neighbor

To dear Norma,

We had our laughs and our joys and our sorrows. I will miss your funny quips about stories long gone by. All of us will miss your tales that you told with such vitality and humor. I was fortunate to visit with you that Sunday afternoon; you were calm and peaceful. I asked you if you dream, and you said, "Oh yes, I do." I wanted to probe your mind, but I decided not to. Another time would be more appropriate. That time was not to be.

I will miss you a great deal, dear Norma, I really will. I pray and hope that a cure will come soon so this devastating disease will be arrested. I am happy you are at peace now.

With a great deal of hope and love, your friend,
Maria Westervelt
