Smile and Be Friendly

Wondering how to meet new people and make a great impression at the same time?

Make it a point today and every day to smile and greet people you wish to meet. Ask them "How are you?" and then wait to hear their response. Don't leave the conversation without saying it was a pleasure talking to them and ask for their name. Shake their hand and say you hope to see them around again.

You'll be surprised at how this simple question can make a person's day. Experiment with five strangers today and see how it makes you feel. In order to receive, you must be willing to give of yourself. Smile and be friendly!
