TRADING AT THE RIVER

- A Gathering of Native American Entrepreneurs -

In the old days, the Columbia River was the link between hundreds of native bands, dozens of cultures, and thousands of families. Things were bought, sold, traded, and given at special places along its shores. Bonds were made and economies thrived.

Native American tribes and business people are rebuilding these networks. The opportunities are as great as the river.

Come and join us for a gathering of Native American entrepreneurs, service providers, and potential business partners for a
