

TRIBAL PROGRAM NEWS

Tamera Melton (r), Salem's Parent Committee vice chair, accepts a check from Lori Jay-Lindstrom on behalf of the Siletz Parent Committee's auction fund-raiser.

Highlights from Siletz Tribal Head Start

Top, left: This bulletin board in the Head Start classroom in Portland reflects the children's study of Native Americans.

Above: Portland students return to their classroom after an outside activity.

Below: A couple of Salem Head Start dads and students have a busy time during their parent meeting in January.

Below, left: Laura Duarte and Baby John of Siletz, Jaimie Crane of Springfield, Cassidy Robinson of Portland, Jessica Buchannon and Danielle Mason of Salem, and parent involvement coordinator Lori Jay-Lindstrom attend the National Head Start Association's 30th parent training conference in December.

