Happy 26th Anniversary to the love of my life, Mike Williams, I love you more every day! Through all of the trials we've been through, I've never stopped loving you. Now we're in the middle years and beyond our struggles and fears, it's easier to appreciate what loving each other really takes – patience, time, giving, and sharing. Including family, picnics, babies, and caring. It really does mean through sickness and health, wealth and loss. There was sorrow and missing people we love, and joy with new grandbabies to hug. Watching children grow into beautiful people and having time to sit back in a boat with our poles in the water, making plans, and discussing our dreams. I'm so happy we've shared these things.

I love you, Becky
