Follow Your Nose to Northwest Garlic Festival

In our land of clams, crab, and oysters, what are folks looking forward to in June? Garlic – and plenty of it!

Celebrate the passion for this exalted bulb with the faithful throngs who make the pilgrimage each June to the Northwest Garlic Festival in the seaside community of Ocean Park, Wash., on June 19-20, 2004.

More than 80 specialty food and craft vendors will offer their delightful wares centered on the garlic theme – succulent garlic oysters or garlic-smothered sausages paired with a garlic jam, and for dessert, decadent chocolate-covered garlic cloves, or donuts laced with garlic herbs and cheese.

And live music, too! June 19 from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., Lipstick Dolls; and from 2:30 p.m. to 7 p.m., Thunder Rose Band; and June 20 from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., Lipstick Dolls; and from 12:30 p.m. to 4 p.m., Blue Light Band.

Judging is June 19, 2:30 p.m., at Sheldon Field in Ocean Park.

Mark your calendar for the 23rd Annual Northwest Garlic Festival. You'll be healthier and happier for it. Remember, it's chic to reek (of garlic that is!).

Aquarium Offers Marine Science Institute for Teachers

NEWPORT, Ore. – The Oregon Coast Aquarium invites elementary school teachers to enhance their knowledge of marine sciences at this summer's Teaching Educators About Marine Science (TEAMS): Marine Ecosystems from July 18 to July 23.

The five-day workshop builds on the complex relationship between habitat and adaptation. Working with the aquarium's education and animal husbandry staffs, K-5 educators explore five marine ecosystems, including wetlands, sandy shores, rocky shores, the deep sea, and the open ocean.

Teachers participating in the TEAMS workshop take field trips and participate in a variety of structured activities centered on the five marine habitats, including a visit to the a tide pool and an ocean boat trip.

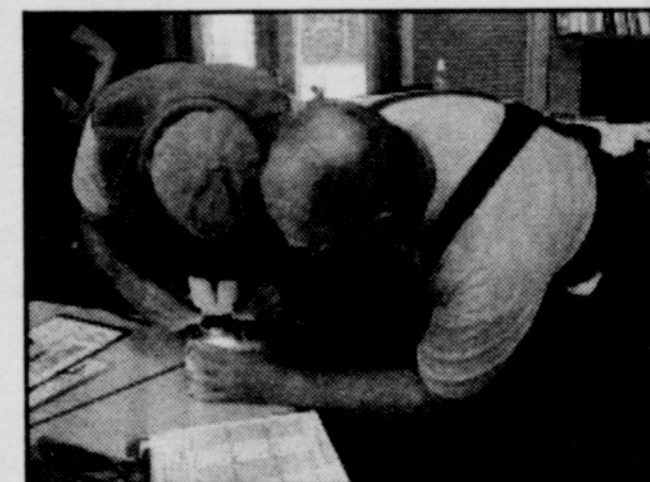

Participants receive a binder full of educational materials for their classrooms. They gain new instructional tools, receive peer coaching by the aquarium's education specialists, network with colleagues from outside their local area, and enjoy behind-the-scenes experiences at the aquarium.

TEAMS: Marine Ecosystems can be taken for four graduate credits ($180) through Western Oregon University. Oregon Professional Development Units or Washington State Clock Hours also are available.

As a co-sponsor for this year's TEAMS workshop, the Elizabeth Street Inn is offering 10 free rooms to participating teachers. The rooms are available on a first-come, first-served basis. Those wishing to stay at the inn must have a roommate.

Cost for the week is $325 and includes lunches, program materials, and field trips. Scholarships may be available. Advanced registration is required by July 9; call 541-867-3474, ext. 5301.
