"The foundations want to see evidence of local support," said Sally Jennings, SVFOL president, "so this substantial contribution from CTSI will be extremely helpful in leveraging additional funding."

The Siletz Tribe is proud of its contributions through employment, monetary donations, and cooperative measures to the Siletz community and Lincoln County as a whole. The tribe has honored its tradition of sharing within the community by distributing nearly $3.1 million through the Siletz Tribal Charitable Contribution Fund and other tribal resources.

Chinook Winds Casino Resort, owned and operated by the Siletz Tribe, has donated more than $450,000 in cash and fund-raising items since it opened in 1995. The casino also provides in-kind donations of convention space for various fund-raisers as well as technical support, advertising, and manpower for many events.

The new library building in Siletz will include a 3,600-square-foot library and a 600-square-foot program room.

This room will be accessible for classes and community and private functions even when the library is closed.

The new library will feature modern computer access, a small group study room, an expanded children's area, display cases, a community bulletin board and pamphlet rack, plus room to expand the library's existing collection of more than 15,000 books, books-on-tape, and videos.

The city of Siletz has donated a 20,000-square-foot lot next to the Siletz Post Office for the new building.

The current library building was built in the 1960s and was not intended as a permanent structure. It is overcrowded, has no insulation or foundation, and is permeated with dry rot.

SVFOL has grown to 150 members; new members and donors are welcome. Membership and donor information is available at the Siletz Post Office and the Siletz Public Library or by calling 541-444-2855.

Donations to the Library Building Fund can be sent to SVFOL, P.O. Box 130, Siletz, OR 97380.
