McCoy Shares Country Roots in Concert

Country star Neal McCoy will bring his well-known baritone to Chinook Winds Casino Resort on April 15-16.

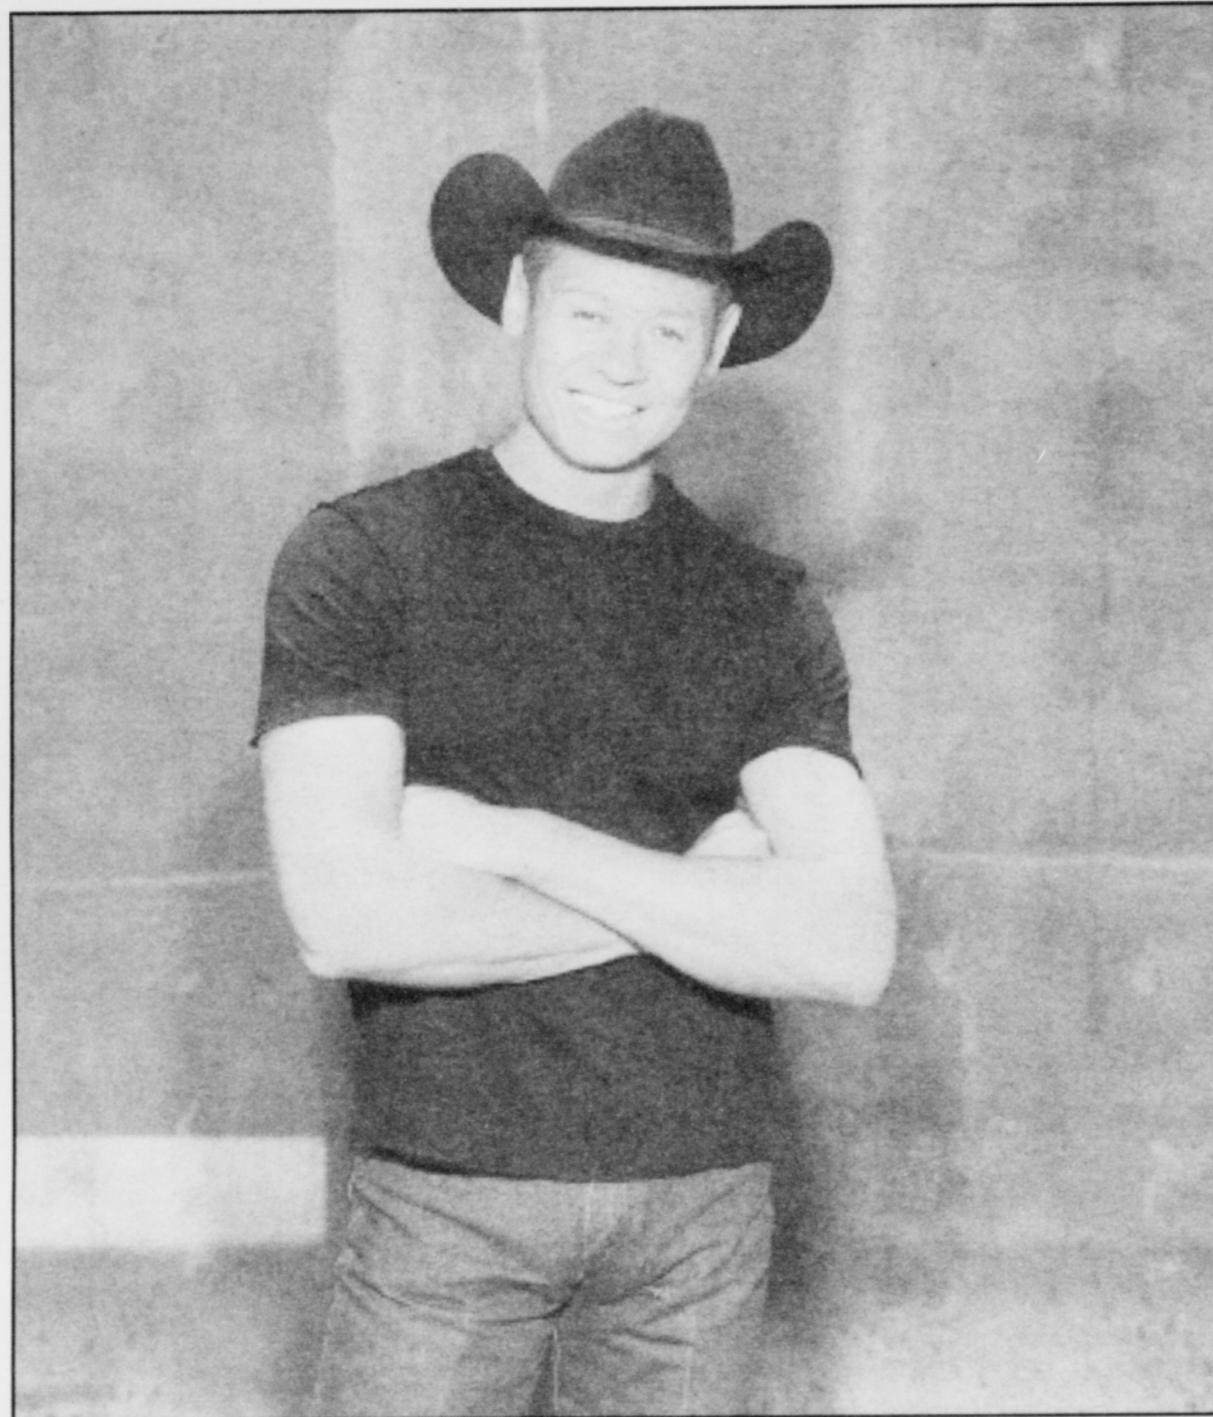

In 1981, McCoy won a talent contest that landed him a slot on tour as Charley Pride's opening act. After six years, he left to pursue his own recording career.

In 1994, McCoy's third album, No Doubt About It, produced three chart-toppers with the title track, Wink, and The City Put The Country Back In Me.

Suddenly a breakout star, McCoy returned in 1995 with You Gotta Love That, another platinum-seller that produced three No. 3 singles – For A Change, They're Playin' Our Song, and the title track.

In 1996, McCoy kept his hit streak going strong, giving him a third straight platinum album and another top-five single in Then You Can Say Goodbye. Taking some time off to recharge, McCoy returned in early 2003 with The Luckiest Man In The World.

Show time is 8 p.m. each night. Tickets range from $15 to $35.
