Jenifer Metcalf, Martha Lockhart, and Gladys Bolton attend a caregivers conference at Chinook Winds Casino Resort in February. The event – Native Caring ... A Conference to Learn, Connect, & Share – was sponsored by the Coquille; Coos, Lower Umpqua, and Siuslaw; Grand Ronde; Warm Springs; and Siletz tribes. Topics covered include elder abuse, medication management, Alzheimer's and dementia, grandparent caregiving; self-care for the caregiver, and diabetes. (photo by Maria Westervelt)

Harvard Announces Free Tuition for Low-Income Families

Harvard University announced in early March that from now on, undergraduate students from low-income families will pay no tuition.

In making the announcement, Harvard's president Lawrence H. Summers said, "When only 10 percent of the students in elite higher education come from families in the lower half of the income distribution, we are not doing enough."

If you know of a family earning less than $40,000 a year with an honor student graduating from high school soon,

Harvard University wants to pay his/her tuition. The prestigious university recently announced that from now on, undergraduate students from low-income families can go to Harvard for free – no tuition and no student loans!

To find out more about Harvard offering free tuition for families making less than $40,000 a year, visit Harvard's financial aid Web site at www.fao.fas.harvard.edu/ or call the university's financial aid office at 617-495-1581.
