Shuping Sworn In as Chamber President

Rudy Shuping, Chinook Winds Casino marketing coordinator, is the Lincoln City Chamber of Commerce president for 2007/2008.

He was sworn in as the new president July 12 at the annual Chamber Inauguration Dinner held at Chinook Winds' hotel banquet room.

On hand to welcome the new officers and honor the outgoing board were many members of the local business community and the Lincoln City Council; Mayor Lori Hollingsworth; Don Lindley, Lincoln County commissioner; Frank Simmons, Siletz Tribal Council member; Don Kennedy, Chinook Winds director of Marketing; Sar Richards, Chinook Winds director of Casino Ops; Teresa Simmons, outgoing board member; and other members of the Chinook Winds staff.

When asked how he felt about his new responsibilities as chamber president, Shuping replied, "It's just such an incredible honor to be chosen as the chamber president and to be a representative on the (chamber) board for Chinook Winds Casino Resort and the Confederated Tribes of Siletz Indians."

Directors who serve on the Chamber of Commerce Board are nominated by chamber members. A slate of six candidates is selected, followed by an election with each business that is a chamber member casting one ballot, voting for three individuals from the six nominated.

Directors serve a three-year term with a two-term maximum.
