

NESIKA ILLAHEE POW-WOW

Tony Whitehead (above, left) joins Don Moccasin during Grand Entry.

This year's pow-wow featured youth in various tribal regalia – fancy dancers (above) and jingle dancers (below).

The children's giveaway entices youngsters to run for their share of the free treats scattered across the dance arena.

Destiny Summers of the Klamath Tribe won first place in Youth Girls Traditional.

Jon Warren of the Karuk Tribe took fourth place in Men's Traditional and participated in the Grand Entry.

Frank Eagle Speaker of the Cree/Blood Tribe won second place in Golden Age Men's competition.

Jaedis Smith of the Siksika Tribe took fourth place in Youth Boys Grass dancing.

