near existing apartment buildings. Included in the plan are four three-bedroom/two-bath units, four two-bedroom/one-bath units and three four-bedroom/two-bath units.

The units currently are in the design process, which should be complete by June 1. At that time, the project will go out to bid for 30 days, which means a recommendation should be made to the Tribal Council at its regular meeting in July.

These new units should help reduce the waiting lists for apartments, which in mid-April stood at 31 for one-bedroom apartments, 45 for two-bedroom units and 26 for three-bedroom units. Currently, no four-bedroom apartments exist, so no applications for them have been accepted.
