

Save $, Conserve Energy with STEP

STEP is the Siletz Tribal Energy Program. Look for our booth at Culture Camp on July 13-15.

Our goal is to empower Tribal members with the ability to maintain healthier, more livable homes, control their utility costs and conserve natural resources.

We plan to reach these goals by providing education and assistance for Tribal members about energy conservation, home weatherization and reducing the waste we generate. We also will explore renewable energy options for Tribal administration buildings, homes and businesses.

Over the next two years, we will work to develop green building codes for the Tribe, requirements for energy-efficient appliances and equipment. We also will develop a five-year strategic plan that will include a plan to sustain the program after the current grant money is spent.

The Siletz Tribal Energy Program (STEP) is funded by grant money from the Administration for Native Americans, Recovery Act money from the Department of Energy and money from the Bonneville Power Administration.

Who Can Take Advantage of STEP?

If you are an enrolled Siletz Tribal member or have one living in your household, we can assist you. It does not matter what your income level is, although we can provide more services to those with lower incomes.

Do you need an energy audit on your home? Does your home need to be weatherized? We can assist with that.

If you are over-income, we may be able to provide you with a free energy audit and suggestions on things you can do to improve your home yourself. If you are under-income, we may provide you with a free energy audit and some free weatherization work on your home.

Once the work is complete, you should be more comfortable and healthier, and your utility bills may decrease.

What Benefits Can I Get From STEP?

- Weatherization services
- Replacement CFL lights and low-flow showerheads
- Energy efficiency information
- Learn about renewable energy
- Learn about a new career
- Learn about energy-efficient appliances

Aimee Husberg and Miles Harrison

By Angela Rabideau

I am proud to announce the engagement of Aimee Husberg to Miles Harrison! They make a lovely couple, one that stands much stronger together than they ever did apart.

I know I can speak for all the family when I say we are super excited for the wedding and very happy to welcome Miles as our own.

Congratulations, you two! You are loved and appreciated for the light you bring into the lives of those around you.

Congratulations!
