Rosalie Monroe is a new Community Health Advocate at the Siletz Community Health Clinic. Rosie spent her childhood years living in Siletz and Toledo. When Rosie was fourteen she moved to Marysville, California. Upon graduation, Rosie moved to Norfolk, Virginia where she worked at Old Dominion Coffee Company. For three years Rosie got to live on the east coast where she loved Boogie Boarding fervently every day during the summer months. In January of 2003 Rosie returned to Marysville, California and started school to become a Clinical Medical Assistant. Soon after becoming a Medical Assistant, Rosie received a Medical Assisting position at Lake County Tribal Health Consortium where she worked for two and a half years. Rosie then returned back to her hometown in Siletz, Oregon where she worked in the medical department for the Siletz Community Health Clinic as a Medical Assistant. Rosie Started a family and decided to stop working temporarily to raise her small children. Rosie's true passion is to serve people as a whole and in general. Rosie has a major love for human life and loves to study subjects such as Anatomy, Physiology and Microbiology. In Rosie's free time she is chasing after kids, cleaning her house, and cooking a meal.
