Questions and Answers by Christina Snell Executive Director at Lovejoy Hospice

In order to help you become better informed about hospice services, Lovejoy Hospice is publishing this question and answer column every month. Look for us on the fourth Wednesday of every month in 'Illinois Valley News.' If you have questions you would like answered in this column, phone us at the number below or E-mail us at lovejoy@parragon.com

Q: "How are Hospices funded?"

A: Most not-for-profit hospices receive their funds from billing Medicare, Medicaid, Veterans' Administration, or private insurance companies for the care they provide. They also receive community donated funds. Regardless how expensive the care is, the hospice receives a set per-visit or per-day amount. Sometimes the person doesn't learn about hospice until the day, week, or month before their death. The community donations fill the gaps between the expense for short term cases and the reimbursement provided. When a hospice chooses to expand their services or build a new building as Lovejoy Hospice has, they must look to other sources such as grants, banks, or community sponsors for funding of the project.
