Arts Council hears plans for CJ work, renovation

Al Devine, of Evergreen Federal Bank, discussed Cave Junction renovation during a recent meeting of Illinois River Valley Arts Council.

He provided an update on efforts to bring a bronze casting foundry to the valley. He is negotiating with someone who is outgrowing their foundry elsewhere.

Devine said that Evergreen Bank has agreed to construct a namesake water/sign public art piece which will include two bronze bears. He passed around color copies of the artist's renderings. He also showed renderings of a 3-foot salmon sculpture that will be installed near the footbridge in Grants Pass.

Discussions ensued regarding the placement of art in locations throughout Cave Junction. Devine also spoke on the subject of "façade development" in Cave Junction to give it a uniform look using natural poles and local rocks creating a thematic approach to tourism similar to Jackson Hole, Wyo., and Leavenworth, Wash.

Mary Reynolds spoke about the possibility of a new fire station at the former Wish-U-Well Motel location on Caves Hwy., and that there will be a tourism grant matched by businesses to erect a monument to firefighters.

She also said that designs are welcome from anyone for suggestions for rock sculpture bus stop benches to be presented to the city of Cave Junction. She said that she and others are in the process of applying with I.V. Community Response Team for a $7,000 "Art Builds Community" grant from the Oregon Arts Commission to establish a mural on the diamond-shaped brick wall of the new Taylor's Sausage building.

Patricia Downing spoke of her work with I.V. Safe House Alliance. She said that a poster will be made by Alan Laurie to help in the alliance's efforts. She reminded the group about the I.V. Learning Fair held by RCC in the county building in Cave Junction on Friday, Sept. 13.

Rebecca Pearson, of "Bebe's ART for everyone," informed the group that Michael Yanase, of Yanase's Jewelers in Kerby, is putting together an "Arts Calendar" for 2003 and to contact him if anyone wishes to submit art for the project.

IRVAC meets on last Wednesdays at 6 p.m. in the coalition building on E. River Street, west of I.V. High School. The public can attend. For more information phone 592-3949.

Plans were made by the arts council during its August meeting for designing, building and decorating a float to be entered in this year's I.V. Lions Labor Day Parade.

The float was described as having four people aboard, painting at large easels, while others in costume walked alongside with "art on sticks," offering them to anyone in the crowd having an "art attack."

Members at the meeting took home various items for decorating. The parade resulted in the Illinois River Art Council receiving third prize in "special non-category." The Arts Council said that it appreciates I.V. Lions Club for its efforts.

Keep it clean.
