Ore. No-Call List sign-up by Dec. 15

People who want to stop most telemarketing calls to their homes and cell phones have until Sunday, Dec. 15 to register for the latest update of the Oregon "No Call" List.

The No Call Law (NCL), enacted by the Oregon Legislature in 1999, gives residential and cellular phone customers the opportunity to get on the NCL and get off telemarketers' lists.

Companies that phone homes on the NCL are subject to fines of up to $25,000. To date, Oregon Attorney Gen. Hardy Myers has fined 120 companies more than $450,000 for violating the NCL.

Cellular phone customers also can register their numbers with No Call.

"More and more people are using cell phones as their primary telephone number. As a result, telemarketers are increasingly making unwanted calls to these numbers," said Richard Meyer of Oregon No Call.

"Cell phone customers who want to put an end to most of these calls can now sign up for the NCL," Meyer said.

The Oregon NCL is updated quarterly and is distributed to more than 1,000 telemarketers in 49 states and two foreign countries.

People who miss the December deadline for the January list will be still able to register for the April 2003 list.

More than 90,000 Oregonians have signed up for annual NCL subscriptions, which costs $6.50 for the first year and $3.00 each year thereafter.
