until 7 p.m. Phone messages may be left after the office closes. E-mail inquires may also be sent to dhs.info@state.or.us.

Besides the increase in phone calls, the office is receiving more than double the amount of e-mail messages as last year.

In the first six weeks of the year, office staff managed 21 percent of the total number of cases (4,099) they worked in all of 2002. If this volume continues, they will staff 7,460 cases by the end of 2003 for an overall increase of 182 percent.

Denison said the majority of the calls coming in are regarding health issues, including loss of prescription drug benefits.

Despite the high volume of callers, Denison said she is concerned that certain populations - seniors and people with mental illness, for example are not contacting the office.

"I would encourage family members to take the initiative and make the call for their loved ones," she said. "We have a collective, ethical responsibility to look out for each other, starting with our own families."

The Governor's Advocacy Office serves citizens experiencing a problem with, or seeking information about programs or services provided by DHS.

These concerns include child and elder abuse and neglect, access to health and dental programs, homelessness, personal or family crisis, drug and alcohol treatment, mental health programs and services for people with developmental disabilities.

For more information phone (800) 442-5238.
